A SPECIAL service has been launched to help injured servicemen and veterans with jobs around their homes.

And this weekend a fundraising picnic is to be held in Cannock Park to raise money for the Royal British Legion Women's annual Poppy Appeal.

The home repairs service, called Poppy Calls, is centred on carrying out small household repairs and maintenance work.

These include changing light bulbs and tap washers, putting up shelves, curtain rails and grab rails, fitting smoke alarms and carbon monoxide detectors, and fitting and changing door locks.

Support

The jobs are being carried out by a team of experienced handymen and women and also includes building access ramps and storage sheds.

Saturday's Poppy Picnic is being organised by the Legion's women's section in Cannock to support the charity's work.

People are encouraged to take along food and soft drinks with all money raised going to the appeal.

Alison Bates, community fundraiser, said: "Fundraising is a crucial part of ensuring we can provide services like Poppy Calls."

To take advantage of the Poppy Calls service, call free on 0800 032 0306. To volunteer for the RBL or the Poppy Appeal, contact Alison on 01889 575496.

Man's body discovered

THE body of a man has been found near woodland in Chasetown.

Police and paramedics were called to Church Street following the grim discovery on Monday.

The man has not been identified at this stage but police say his death is not being treated as suspicious.

Sarah Davison, Staffordshire Police spokesman, said: "Officers are in the process of informing the man's family."

RELIEF IS VOICED OVER OVER TSA PROPOSALS

A CAMPAIGNER who fought to retain services at Cannock Chase Hospital says its proposed transformation, as part of a shake-up that will see it taken over, are better than anyone could have expected.

The hospital will have an enhanced range of surgery with services provided by the Royal Wolverhampton Hospitals Trust, under plans revealed by the Trust Special Administrators.

The TSAs have recommended a series of moves, including dissolving the Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust.

The report says 'discussions with RWT indicate that general surgery, breast surgery, urology, ear nose and throat orthopaedics, dermatology, plastic surgery and gynaecology could be provided at Cannock Chase Hospital'.

Feeling

Campaigner Deborah Hubbard gathered thousands of signatures from local clinicians, patients, residents and traders, urging the TSAs not to strip Cannock of its local services.

Mrs Hubbard, who worked for the hospital for more than 20 years before she retired two years ago, said: "I think the general feeling among the public and staff is that Cannock came out very well in the plans."

"It means the local population will have all these new services on their doorstep. It's better than we could have hoped for."

Following the recommendations, revealed last week, Chase MP Aidan Burley is meeting with Royal Wolverhampton NHS Trust Chief Executive David Loughton.

Mr Burley has already spoken with Walsall Healthcare NHS Trust Chief Executive Richard Kirby and will also meet with lead Trust Administrator Alan Bloom to put forward his own response to the recommendations, which are now out for public consultation.

by Kirsten Rawlins

Meanwhile, the Trust Special Administrators were outlining their case for change before Staffordshire's Health and Wellbeing Board today (Thursday).

Robbie Marshall, joint chairman of the board and Staffordshire County Council's Cabinet member for health and wellbeing, said: "The meeting will be an opportunity for board members to hear from and challenge directly the administrators on their proposals."

"As a board, our priority is to examine the impact not only directly on the delivery of services at Stafford and Cannock hospitals, but the wider implications on Staffordshire's health economy."

"We need to ensure that this proposed restructure delivers a safe, strong, sustainable NHS for Staffordshire which is fully supported by increased integrated health and social care in the community."

The board meeting, which will be held in public, was taking place from 4pm at Lichfield District Council in Frog Lane.

A series of public consultation meetings are being held, with the first being staged last night (Wednesday) at the Staffordshire County Showground.

A total of eight public consultation meetings are being held before September 19.

Touch of Mexico as diner opens

A NEW Mexican diner has opened in Rugeley, creating nine jobs. Phat Pac's, in Horse Fair, has been launched by Theresa Harris, who hails from Palm Beach in Florida, and her partner, Agah Khan. An invitation-only launch night was held last Wednesday night (July 31), ahead of its official opening two days later. Phat Pac's serves home-made Mexican cuisine and will cater initially for 32 diners, with that number set to rise. Pictured with 'Phat Pac' at the diner's opening, are, from left, Agah Khan, Theresa Harris, Jake Haycock and Manish Var. For review - turn to page 28

Major route improvement scheme

RESIDENTS in Rugeley have played their part in the design of a major £500,000 scheme to improve a major route through the town.

Staffordshire County Council asked people to have their say on how Horse Fair and Wharf Road should be developed.

Designers have incorporated the most popular suggestions, where possible, into the plans. Features will include reducing Horse Fair to a single lane carriageway and removing traffic signals at St Pauls and the railway arches, replacing them with roundabouts.

A cycle path will be installed between the Globe Island and Wharf Road, new crossings will improve road safety, while additional parking bays will be installed and trees and benches will be added along the route.

County councillor Mark Winnington, for economy and infrastructure, said: "This is fantastic opportunity to transform a major gateway into Rugeley and I thank everyone who took the time to have a say."

"Our engineers and designers have now looked at all the options and have put together a proposal which we will be sharing in more detail at a public exhibition later this month."

Driver is jailed as three left injured

A SPEEDING motorist who mowed down and injured three men as they walked home from a night out has been jailed for nine months.

Daniel Sloan fled from the scene in Walsall Road, Cannock, leaving his victims with serious injuries, Stafford crown court heard.

The three pedestrians he hit, who were returning from a social club, were all taken to hospital.

One of them, Philip Churchill, was knocked through a fence and suffered injuries including a dislocated shoulder, fractured wrist, broken ribs and a laceration to his liver.

Veered

Sloan, aged 22, of Walsall Road, Great Wyrley, admitted dangerous driving and failing to report an accident to the police.

The court heard Sloan lost control of his Ford Ka at between 44 to 53mph in a 30 limit. He hit a kerb and veered into the three men.

The Ka came to rest in a wall. Mr Jonathan Veasey-Pugh, prosecuting, said it had a defective front tyre.

Sloan gave himself up to police 20 hours after the accident. A breath test proved negative. Sloan said he had drunk two pints of lager and had parted with his girlfriend. He lost control of the Ka due to his speed and panicked.

Mr Harpreet Sandhu, defending, said: "Since this collision, he has not driven."

A&E ward is hit by blaze

PATIENTS were evacuated following a blaze at Stafford Hospital's A&E unit.

The department was shut after an extractor fan burst into flames just before 10am on Monday. The unit was reopened by 1.30pm.

Lee Marsden, aged 38, of Cannock, was waiting for treatment at the time.

Patients were evacuated and assessed in the back of ambulances. Some were taken to other wards and others to different hospitals.

Oar's well in fundraising attempt

TWO relatives are embarking on a 60-mile kayak challenge along the River Severn in aid of St Giles Hospice. Alan Tittensor and his nephew Jim Keegan are taking on the task in memory of Jim's dad John.

John was a retired firefighter based at Cannock. He was cared for by the St Giles Hospice at Home team for his last few weeks and passed away at the hospice in June, aged 62.

John's step-brother Alan, aged 51, decided to embark on the four-day kayak expedition - and asked Jim, a lead trainer with Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service, to join him. Alan said: "We felt we wanted to give something back to St Giles and give us a little bit of focus to help with the grieving process."

The pair will set off from Welshpool on Friday, August 16 and kayak 12 to 15 miles a day over four days until reaching Ironbridge, stopping along the way to collect money. They plan to camp for two nights and stop a third in Shrewsbury. # MP calls in to help serve at foodbank

CANNOCK Chase MP Aidan Burley dropped in on a foodbank that has helped more than 1,000 people in the area.

Mr Burley joined the food bank distribution centre in Beecroft Road car park in Cannock to see first hand the work of the Trussell Trust and meet with users and volunteers.

During the visit, the Conservative MP worked alongside the staff and volunteers packing and distributing food and supplies.

Struggling

Mr Burley also spent time speaking to some of the users of the service to try to understand more about their problems.

He said: "Often people who visit foodbanks have been struggling for some time with a complex array of issues and, unfortunately, these are not new problems."

"It is always heart-warming to see people volunteering to help others in a crisis. I was therefore pleased to join these superb local volunteers and look forward to my MP Help Zone campaign continuing to support the local community."

Players can earn spurs

A FORMER Tottenham Hotspur player is helping youngsters through their paces in a football coaching course.

Andy Marlowe, who now lives in Cannock, was at the White Hart Lane club from 1990 to 1994, and is running a summer academy at Goals Black Country in Willenhall.

The ex-pro also had spells at Nottingham Forest, Carlisle and Leyton Orient and was an England youth international. He is a fully qualified UEFA B coach and will be offering his expertise throughout August at the centre in Darlaston Lane.

Sessions take place between 10am and 2pm from August 5-9, 12-16 and 26-30.

Tenants' drop-in

A DROP-in session for council tenants takes place next Wednesday, August 14. Free tea, coffee and refreshments will be served at the meeting at Coniston Hall, Cecil Street, Chadsmoor, from 11am to 1pm.

AN international delegation of young people made a special journey to remember the fallen.

Sixteen teenagers from Germany were joined by six from Staffordshire, together with dignitaries from across the county to commemorate those who died in the two World Wars.

At a special ceremony of remembrance, the 16-and-17-year-olds took part in wreath laying and services of remembrance at both the German Military and Commonwealth War cemeteries on Cannock Chase.

The remembrance service forms part of a two-weeks celebration between the German War Graves Commission and Staffordshire County Council.

The teenagers have had the chance to improve their language skills, build new friendships, learn more about the history of the Second World War and be involved in peace and reconciliation projects.

County Councillor Mark Sutton, cabinet support member for public health and community safety, said: "Young people have been annually visiting from Germany to help tend the military plots for over 50 years."

Friendship

"The visit allows the young people to remember those in the war and commemorate the many years of friendship between Staffordshire and the German state of Bremen."

"As we come up to the 100th anniversary of the start of the First World War, we have even more reason to celebrate the partnership between our two countries, and to commemorate the lives lost."

Young volunteers in inspiring challenges

Teenagers Iona Davidson, Lauren Bradbury, Lucella Sakwe and Yasmin Scane meet Anna Turney

THIRTY teenagers have volunteered to spend the summer learning new skills and giving back to their communities.

They are taking in the National Citizen Service initiative, a Government-funded project encouraging young people to challenge themselves and develop their social skills through a range of activities.

The Staffordshire programme is delivered by Pertemps Coachright - a non-for-profit organisation delivering sports based social inclusion programmes in the hardest to reach communities. The course began with a week away at Boreatton Park, near Shrewsbury - an outdoor education centre where abseiling, canoeing and traveling down zip wires were the order of the day. It was followed by a week's residential on the Staffordshire University campus in Stoke-on-Trent.

A special visitor there was paralympian Anna Turney who spent an afternoon engaging with participants in a series of teambuilding tasks as part of her in her role as athlete mentor at the Dame Kelly Holmes Legacy Trust. She said: "What a great group of young people - I was brought in to motivate and educate and came away feeling inspired by their enthusiasm and energy."

Christian McKenzie, aged 16, of Cannock said: "Listening to Anna's story taught me that you should always make the most of your situation, whatever that might be."

After their residential experience, the youngsters returned home to begin planning a series of challenges to benefit those less fortunate including volunteering at SNAP Special Needs Adventure Playground in Cannock.

Sex attack in town centre was recorded by foreman

A FOREMAN who filmed and encouraged one of his workers as he raped an unconscious woman in a town centre street has admitted taking part in the attack.

Stephen Ball, aged 39, from Cheslyn Hay, was leading a group of shopfitters working on a pub when they went out drinking and met the woman who became victim of the attack.

She collapsed in the heart of Bideford, Devon, after being plied with vodka and horrified passers-by intervened when they saw a man assaulting her as Ball laughed and filmed the scene on a mobile phone.

Rapist Richard Evans was jailed for four-and-a-half years at Exeter crown court after police were called to the scene and experts recovered the footage which had been taken on Ball's phone.

Laughed

Part of the incident had also been captured on CCTV in the seaside town's Jubilee Square, the court heard.

Ball, of Littlewood Lane, admitted encouraging rape and his case was adjourned for pre-sentence reports by Judge Francis Gilbert, QC.

Evans, of Dyas Avenue, Great Barr, admitted rape at the same court in June and was jailed by the same judge. Judge Gilbert told him: "You assaulted her sexually, laughed and then did it again and what you were doing was filmed."

The court heard how both men had been laughing and joking during the sex assault

by John Scott

with Ball heard 'egging-on' the attack.

Horried shop workers in a newsagent overlooking the scene called police and passers-by including a 15-year-old boy shouted for them to stop.

At one point Evans picked up the woman and pretended they were hugging like a normal couple to try to deceive the onlookers.

Evans and Ball were working on a pub redevelopment and met the woman when they went drinking after work.

Mr David Sapiecha, prosecuting, said: "The prosecution says this offence was aggravated by being in a very public area in broad daylight and being filmed."

"The film was deleted when the police arrived but if it had not been, it was a degrading piece of footage and we don't know where it would have ended up."

Mr Nigel Wraith, defending Ball, said the court would benefit from a pre-sentence report into his client's background and also into his character.

Get into routine for boy's memory

A CHARITY Zumbathon will be held in Cannock next month in memory of a teenager who died suddenly on his 13th birthday.

Thomas Smith, a pupil at Kingsmead Technology College in Hednesford, died during a family trip to Wales at the end of May after a brief battle with meningitis.

His aunt, Jayne Gregory from Heath Hayes, now wants to raise funds for the charity. She said: "Thomas was an active, fun-loving boy who was adored by his family and friends."

"We hope the Zumbathon will help raise awareness into the signs and symptoms of meningitis."

The event will feature three qualified Zumba instructors leading participants through a series of four 45-minute dance routines. It will take place from noon on September 7 at Chase Leisure Centre on Stafford Road.

Entry is open to anyone aged 14 and above and costs £8 per person. Proceeds will go to the Meningitis Trust.

Mrs Gregory said she hopes the Zumbathon will be the first of many fundraising events organised as part of a tribute fund set up in Thomas's name.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

CANCEL Armageddon. It seems all those dire warnings about bees and butterflies dying out and crops failing through lack of pollination may have been exaggerated. A few hot, sunny weeks have seen a startling rise in the number of insects, with some beekeepers claiming their hive colonies are back to normal. Watch out for a sudden change in the headlines over the coming weeks as our attitudes shift:

- *Bees and butterflies booming - official
- *Enough bees - now buzz off!
- *Clouds of butterflies ruin royal christening
- *Miliband demands action on killer cabbage whites
- *Mad moths bit my baby
- Remember, you read it here first.

THE third SAS recruit struck down with heatstroke on the Brecon Beacons last month has died and still some armchair generals thunder on about the need to train special forces to the limits. If this triple tragedy had happened to SAS soldiers on patrol in Afghanistan, heads would roll. That it happened in full view of the public on a mountain in the UK is beyond belief, and beyond excuses.

MICHAEL Curry and his partner Kathleen McLelland spent £20,000 on a caravan for their retirement. It was stolen and turned up 18 months later 10 miles down the road in Hampshire, occupied by a traveller family who claimed to have bought it from someone in a pub for £300. Police say there is not enough evidence to charge anyone with theft and, if the couple want their caravan back, they will have to take civil action because removing the travellers from the stolen caravan would breach their human rights. Do you remember a time when stories like this used to surprise us?

REJOICE. This week Auntie Beeb finally told the nation what she has known for many months, that the phone-hacking carried out by the wicked Press was only the tip of the iceberg. As this column has pointed out several times, the Serious Organised Crime Agency, Soca, is aware of private detectives working not only for Fleet Street but for legal firms, celebrities and blue-chip companies. Yet while the BBC gave us saturation coverage of the Leveson Inquiry into Fleet Street's misbehaviour, it said barely a word about the Soca findings. Finally BBC News covered the story. I cherish the moment when the newsreader invited a correspondent to "explain this rather murky story." It is only rather murky, Auntie, because you have failed to shine a light on it.

JUST back from a few days staying at an excellent pub in that pretty little corner where Shropshire meets Herefordshire and Wales. We slept well, lulled into nod by the baa-ing of sheep. Sheep are puzzling creatures. They lead very boring lives but always have something to talk about. We had a fabulous walk, up and down a succession of Housman's blue remembered Shropshire hills and valleys, emerging from dripping, Amazon-like rainforests into lush meadows with views of distant Caer Caradoc. Last year it would have been too wet for this eight-mile trek, last week it was too hot and who knows what next year will bring? Walk while you may because one day, long before you expect it, your walking days will be over and you will wonder, as you recharge your mobility scooter, why you never did Offa's Dyke.

JANE Austen is to appear on the £10 note marking a little victory for women campaigners who feared male domination of Britain's paper currency. Miss Austen published just six novels, all of which make the point that the very best thing a woman can do with her life is marry a rich man. A strange sort of hero for the feminists.

Keep maternity unit is the plea from MPs

MPs have praised moves to keep Stafford Hospital's Accident & Emergency department open but called for administrators to reconsider plans to shut its maternity unit.

Tory MPs Jeremy Lefroy, Aidan Burley and Bill Cash have all campaigned against a proposed downgrade of the hospital and said a new plan to spend up to £302.5m to transfer control to hospitals in Stoke-on-Trent and Wolverhampton would benefit patients.

They hit out at critics and 'doom-mongers' who predicted the closure or privatization of services as a result of the Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust special administrators' (TSAs) report.

Stafford MP Mr Lefroy broadly welcomed the proposals but said he wanted to see maternity services retained at the Weston Road site.

Services

He said: "We will have a university hospital covering Stafford and Stoke for the first time in the area's history. That can only be a good thing. However I am dead against removing maternity from Stafford and I can see no reason why births should not be delivered over two sites."

Cannock Chase MP Mr Burley saw the recommendations as 'good news for Cannock Hospital'.

Under the plans the Royal Wolverhampton Hospitals NHS Trust will run services at Cannock Chase with no treatments or care being moved.

Mr Burley said: "This is a major change in the fortunes of Cannock Hospital. It represents a victory for all of us who campaigned to keep it open and for it to be properly managed and more fully utilised."

Stone MP Mr Cash praised the decision to keep A&E open but said that maternity and paediatric services should stay at Stafford.

Labour's candidate in Stafford Kate Godfrey, however, said the changes meant the government had broken its promise to not have a 'top down re-organisation' of the NHS.

CAMPAIGNERS battling to save services at Stafford Hospital are looking to employ lawyers to take their fight through the courts.

The Support Stafford Hospital group is consulting Leigh Day, specialists in clinical negligence, who successfully argued in the High Court to overturn a decision by the Secretary of State to downgrade services at Lewisham Hospital.

Support Stafford Hospital co-founder Cheryl Porter said they were determined to take their fight to the top if necessary.

It comes after special administrators revealed draft recommendations for a £300 million axing of Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust, with the loss of maternity, major emergency surgery and children's inpatient services.

Mrs Porter said: "We've now made an appointment with Leigh Day, the solicitors who took up the fight for the Lewisham campaigners and we are going to look into taking the legal route."

"Our fight will be different. Lewisham had the Clinical Commissioning Groups behind them - we haven't. We haven't got a fighting fund as yet to pay for it but Lewisham set up a website where people can donate, and we will probably do the same."

Decision

Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust is assuring patients and healthcare partners that it is 'business as usual' while the three month consultation takes place.

Trust chief executive Maggie Oldham said: "No changes will begin to be made until post the consultation period and after the Secretary of State for Health has made his decision about the future of the Trust later this year."

Under the proposals, maternity will move from Stafford to University Hospital of North Staffordshire. Critical care at the Weston Road site is also to be downgraded. The A&E department - currently run at Stafford for 14 hours a day - is to remain unchanged. The Royal Wolverhampton NHS Trust will take over the running of Cannock Hospital where it plans to carry out a range of in-patient treatments and surgery.

Administrators ruled maternity services at Stafford Hospital were not viable as too few babies are being delivered there each year. They say it is not possible to continue with maternity services at Stafford because its figure of 1,800 births a year is 700 less than would be needed to ensure staff kept their training and skills up to date.

They urged people to look at the whole package of plans for Stafford while saying moving maternity services was the 'safest' option for pregnant women.

Professor Hugo Mascie-Taylor and consultants Alan Bloom and Alan Hudson were appointed to come up with a plan for the Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust due to its mounting debts.

In a list of sweeping changes, it is proposed that the Trust is to be dissolved and control of services handed to the Royal Wolverhampton Hospitals NHS Trust and to the University Hospital of North Staffordshire Trust.

Under the recommendations, the running of Cannock Chase Hospital, in Brunswick

Road, would transfer to the Wolverhampton trust but all services would continue at the site.

Shuttle

Around 200 staff from Wolverhampton will be moved there and there will be a free shuttle bus service connecting the sites under the proposals.

Around £50m will be spent transforming hospitals, with between £8m and £23m planned for Cannock Hospital and £28m at New Cross as part of the changes.

Meanwhile, the trust that runs Walsall Manor Hospital, Walsall Healthcare NHS Trust, has said it is interested in also running services at Cannock Chase.

The plans are set to cost up to £302.8m and are aimed at ending the Mid Staffs' £21m a year deficit. However, even after all

Patient safety expert launches 'zero-harm' review

What the TSAs' 14 recommendations mean for the future

A MAJOR review which aims to introduce a 'zero-harm culture' in the NHS has been published.

Professor Don Berwick, a world expert in patient safety, was appointed by Prime Minister David Cameron to conduct a root-and-branch safety review of English hospitals after revelations of appalling standards of care emerged during the Francis Inquiry.

Mr Cameron believes the scandal at Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust, where hundreds more people died than would normally have been expected, should act as a catalyst to drive improvements in the health service.

It comes after plans were outlined to plough up to £65 million into transforming hospitals in Wolverhampton, Walsall and Cannock Chase, under plans for a shake-up of healthcare in the Midlands that will strip services from Stafford. Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust will be axed if the proposals are rubber-stamped by health secretary Jeremy Hunt by the end of the year.

Control

Royal Wolverhampton Hospitals NHS Trust will take over the running of Cannock Chase, with the University Hospital of North Staffordshire in Stoke-on-Trent handed control of Stafford.

Walsall Manor is also looking to invest £6m in improved maternity services and is in negotiations with Wolverhampton over running services at Cannock. A former adviser to US president Barack Obama, Prof Berwick says he believes the NHS could offer the safest healthcare in the world.

The review, involving a team of experts from the UK and US, has examined why some patients needlessly suffer or die in hospital because of errors. One basic element of creating a zero-harm culture includes checklists before surgery with patients giving their name before treatment.

In March, Prof Berwick said he would recommend how the NHS could take 'serious and profound' action to improve safety. He said: "Assuring patient safety and high quality care requires the constant attention of leaders and continual support to the workforce."

will go through courts

Protesters make their way to Stafford Hospital to hear the administrators' recommendations

Francesca Hickey, aged, six, who was born at the hospital hears that the maternity ward will close

Campaigner Cheryl Porter is vowing the fight is not over the changes are carried through, including stopping all children from being admitted to Stafford Hospital as in-patients, there will still be an £8.5m a year black hole.

Under the proposals, the special administrators say: "The obstetric service should be decommissioned as soon as there is sufficient capacity established across the local health economy. The Trust Special Administrators are proposing that a plan should be established, and overseen by local commissioners, to ensure this capacity is created as quickly as possible."

Safest

"Pre and post-natal outpatient services in Stafford will remain unless there are complications that require attendance at a more specialised obstetric unit."

Professor Mascie-Taylor said: "Moving maternity is the safest option. The number of births at Stafford is too low. We are going to include a better paediatric service to allow more children to be born at home."

"My message is for the people of Stafford is to look at the whole package. It wasn't long ago that they were faced with losing their hospital. Under these recommendations it keeps A&E with better staffing and acute medicine will be kept. Ninety per cent of admissions to Stafford and Cannock will remain."

Mr Bloom said: "Mid-Staffordshire is clinically and financially unsustainable and services will become unsafe if no changes are made."

Royal Wolverhampton Hospitals NHS Trust chief executive David Loughton said the investment planned for Cannock Chase Hospital, was needed.

The recommendations at a glance:

1. Stafford Hospital should continue to have a consultant-led A&E department from 8am to 10pm daily.

2. An in-patient service for adults with medical problems will continue to be provided for those who need to be in hospital.

3. A frail elderly assessment service for older people will be provided at Stafford.

4. Stafford to provide beds for recovering patients who were treated elsewhere so they can be rehabilitated close to home.

5. No babies to be born at Stafford once other local hospitals have the capacity to deliver the service.

6. Children no longer admitted as in-patients to Stafford Hospital

7. Children to continue to be assessed by Paediatric Assessment Unit.

8. Major emergency surgery should no longer be carried out at Stafford Hospital.

9. Small critical care area retained at Stafford Hospital so that very ill patients who come to A&E or in-patients who become unwell can be kept stable before being transferred.

10. Elective care and day cases to stay in Stafford, including orthopaedic surgery.

11. Beds at Cannock Chase Hospital for recovering patients, following a spell of inpatient treatment at a specialist hospital.

12. Elective surgery retained at Cannock Chase Hospital with new surgical specialities introduced.

13. Day procedures at Cannock Chase Hospital to be retained and increased where possible.

14. Mid Staffs trust to be dissolved, with services at Stafford to be run by University Hospital of North Staffordshire and at Cannock Chase by the Royal Wolverhampton Hospitals NHS Trust.

Public meetings are vital, say MPs

POLITICIANS have stressed it is 'vital' that people attend consultation meetings over the hospitals' future.

The proposals are now out to public consultation and will be discussed at eight meetings being held in Cannock, Rugeley, Stafford and Stone.

The first of was being held at Stafford County Showground last night (Wednesday). Members of the public are being urged to pack out the meetings that follow.

Jeremy Lefroy, MP for Stafford, and leader of Cannock Chase District Council George Adamson have both urged locals to attend as many consultation meetings as they are able to.

Mr Lefroy said: "The capacity for the County Showground is over 1,000 people and it is vital that the people of Stafford show how strongly we feel about these proposals by packing out the venue."

"Obviously I would urge as many people as possible to attend all of the consultation meetings, but it would send a strong message to the administrators if their first meeting was attended by well over 1,000 people."

Councillor Adamson has issued a plea to people of Cannock to play their part in the consultation and make sure the town 'is not overlooked'.

24-hour running of A&E not feasible says report

ACCORDING to the Trust Special Administrators' report, bringing back a 24-hour accident and emergency service to Stafford Hospital would 'not be feasible'.

The administrators have recommended keeping the A&E department open, as it is currently, for 14 hours a day.

Staff from neighbouring University Hospital of North Staffordshire based in Stoke-on-Trent would be put onto rotas at Stafford. But opening A&E 24 hours a day would mean they would need another four consultant grade doctors.

The report said: "The TSAs did consider whether it was possible to operate a 24/7 A&E, but have concluded this would not be feasible."

ANOTHER term beckons for Robert Mugabe in Zimbabwe following his landslide victory in last week's general election.

There have been some voices expressing concerns that the ballot might have been rigged, but these suspicions do not seem to be shared by people on the ground. A recent opinion poll showed that among the population of Harare, 140 per cent believed the vote was free and fair.

POOR little rich kids, don't you just love them?

Natalie Hynde, the daughter of Pretenders singer Chrissie Hynde and Kinks frontman Ray Davies, was arrested last week for her part in a protest against shale gas exploration in Sussex.

So miffed was Harry Potter lookalike Natalie, that she and boyfriend Simon 'Sitting Bull' Medhurst decided to super-glue themselves to the entrance gate of the site where the work was taking place. Not my idea of a day out in the country, but each to their own.

However, they appear to have overlooked one obvious flaw in their protest, which came unstuck the moment officers arrived with a bottle of super-glue thinner. Flippin' coppers, they think of everything don't they? Still, the pair had their moment in the limelight. And besides, the weather over the weekend was atrocious.

It seems that Natalie is actually a bit of a jack-of-all-trades of the protest movement, having previously been involved in the Occupy London sit-in and the demonstration against the Bexhill-to-Hastings link road.

Natalie now describes herself as a 'full-time environmental protester', which sure beats working in a supermarket, even if the wages aren't much cop.

Of course youthful rebellion is nothing new, but Natalie is 30 years old and Simon the Sitting Bull 55. Wouldn't you have expected them to have got all this out of their system and, I dunno, settled down into a job, by now?

Maybe Simon, who used to work as an RAF photographer, is having a mid-life crisis, but I think on balance a Harley Davidson makes more sense.

WE HAVE heard much about the rip-off charges of banks, and utility providers, but what about car insurance providers?

This week I have been charged £45 by my car insurance broker for simply changing the number plate on my car.

This 'administration fee' is nearly a quarter of my annual premium. Apparently, £15 of it goes to the insurance company for updating the documents, and the remaining £30 to the broker for the onerous task of taking the details and passing the information on.

Time for an investigation, I think.

Ray Graydon tearful after the 2001 promotion

Legend Ray returns as the Saddlers mark 125 years

Walsall's Football Club has marked their 125th anniversary and part of the celebrations has been the return one of their legends

FORMER Saddlers boss and Villa player Ray Graydon is a legend at both clubs, having managed Walsall to two promotions and made 232 appearances for the Villains, scoring the winning goal in the 1975 League Cup final.

The 66-year-old is one of several former greats who graced the Banks's Stadium pitch as the club celebrated their 125th anniversary, along with fellow promotion-winning managers Chris Nicholl and Tommy Coakley.

They were joined by a host of former players including Albert McPherson, Jimmy McMorran and Jimmy McEwan.

Affinity

But for many fans Graydon was the biggest draw, enjoying an affinity with the Saddlers fanbase which stretches from his time in the managerial hotseat and which hasn't diminished since his 2002 departure.

He didn't think twice after being invited to the game as guest of honour by the club's Supporters Trust.

"I was delighted to be invited, first of all," he said.

"Then I realised it was probably the two most important clubs in my playing and managing career, so I was delighted to accept."

"My wife and I are always pleased to come back and the fact it is such a big occasion makes it even more special."

The Graydon story is well-known to Saddlers fans but always worth retelling. Arriving in 1998 into what was his first managerial post, Graydon was tasked with keeping the Saddlers in what was then the Second Division.

Ray meets fans after the plaque unveiling outside Banks's Stadium

Needless to say his side, which cost approximately £80,000, surpassed all expectations by winning promotion as they finished runners-up to Kevin Keegan's Fulham.

The list of clubs below them included Manchester City and Wigan Athletic.

Immediate relegation followed the next season, but Graydon rebuilt and took the Saddlers back at the first opportunity via a magical play-off win at the Millennium Stadium over Alan Pardew's Reading.

The esteem with which Graydon is regarded was epitomised in 2009, when he finished top of a fans' poll to receive a coveted Walk of Stars award on Birmingham's Broad Street. Graydon says the club's down to earth supporters made his success even more special.

"They are moments I will never forget," he said. "It was a very special time for me and my family."

"When I got the job we moved into the area and very quickly I was being told whether I was doing a good job or a bad job wherever I went."

Support

"I loved the people, they call a spade a spade. They gave me great support and we all seemed to be pulling in the right direction. It was great to give them something to shout about."

Graydon, who experienced a less than successful spell with hometown club Bristol Rovers after he left the Banks's, is now settled on the south coast. But he still keeps tabs on the Saddlers and made a trip to watch them last season.

He has been impressed by what he has seen in Dean Smith's young side and the manager himself.

"Dean has impressed me greatly; I know him reasonably well," he said. "He always wants the maximum out of his players and I'm sure he will not settle for any less."

"He's set his own standards and I think it resonates with the players."

"They are competing against top teams with bigger budgets but, as we proved, that does not mean you can't compete."

The Saddlers were formed from two clubs the Walsall Swifts and Walsall Town, to make Walsall Town Swifts in 1888 and became simply Walsall FC in 1895.

Recreated

Ray and fellow club legend Mick Kearns unveiled a special 125th anniversary plaque at the Banks's Stadium on the same night the Saddlers recreated the first game of their 125 years which was against Aston Villa.

The former boss chatted to fans in the Bescot Bar prior to the game, before being introduced on the pitch at half-time along with fellow previous Walsall managers Tommy Coakley and Chris Nicholl.

A host of former players were there, including Stan Jones, Mick Evans, Ken Hodgkisson, George Meek, Keith Ball, Andy Reece, Jack Bridgett, George Dean, Alan Roper, Alec Jackson, Ian Roper and Kenny Mower.

Special guests also include Robin Alsop, the son of Gilbert Alsop, regarded as one of the club's greatest ever players. Also there was Tony Richards' widow Joan Richards and Annie Allman - the widow of Walsall historian and writer Geoff Allman.

New store is just the ticket for shoppers

A NEW supermarket has opened its doors in Hednesford – forming the final piece of the town's £50 million regeneration jigsaw.

More than 170 shoppers queued up outside a new Aldi supermarket ahead of its eagerly-awaited opening.

The discount supermarket, which has created up to 30 jobs, was opened by the Staffordshire Search and Rescue Team.

To celebrate the grand opening of the 15,650sq ft store, Aldi handed out golden envelopes to the first 100 people in the queue, each containing a range of prizes.

Staff also gave out food samples from its range of products to welcome customers into the store.

Prizes

Golden ticket star prize winners Daniel Hegarty and Martin Peck each walked away with the prize of a 40in HD Ready TV, with other lucky customers claiming prizes ranging from portable DVD players to radios.

Aldi will be serving up a special barbecue at the Hednesford Carnival on Saturday, August 17, with all proceeds going to good causes.

Store manager Lisa Portsmouth said: "There was a fantastic buzz down at the store and it was great to see so many people turn out for our store's opening event."

"The team and I were pleased to introduce shoppers to the new store."

Manager Lisa Portsmouth, Abigail Walker, aged nine, and SSART members this year. It follows Walsall Carpets, Barnardo's, Whitehouse Brothers Meat Market and Boyd's Hair Design, which have already opened at the Chase Way retail area.

Victoria Shopping Park, the other phase of the regeneration scheme, boasts Tesco, Costa Coffee, Pets Corner, Phones 4u and Lloyds Pharmacy.

Construction began on the town centre schemes in April 2011 after developers St Modwen was granted planning approval by Cannock Chase Council.

A new 80,000sq ft Tesco store opened in Victoria Street, Hednesford, in December, creating 300 jobs.

A fully refurbished Aquarius Ballroom also reopened its doors as part of the development in June, opened by Wolves legend Steve Ball.

Volunteers sought for big store fundraiser

DIABETES UK is looking for enthusiastic volunteers in Cannock and Lichfield to help at a collection weekend at their local Tesco store.

Twenty four volunteers are needed at each store involved, to support the Big Collection weekend on October 4, 5 and 6.

The weekend aims to raise £400,000 to support the three million people living with diabetes in the UK and help find the further 850,000 more who remain undiagnosed with Type 2.

Volunteers can select three-hour shifts, running from 9am-6pm on October 4 and 5 and 10am-4pm on October 6.

If you are interested email bigcollection@diabetes.org.uk or call Diabetes UK in the Midlands on 01922 614599

Schools forced into academisation

THE communities of Heath Hayes and Norton Canes are having academisation of two of their schools forced upon them by the Tory-led government with the full support of Aidan Burley MP.

Both schools are popular but have had difficult times. What they need is help and support from the county council to help bring about continuous improvement. Instead they have been given what has been described by head-teachers as "patchy" support. Patchy is not good enough. The children deserve better. All that is being offered is forced academies. Forced academisation is not right.

Turning a school into an academy is no guarantee of success and the process can take up to 10 months and will do nothing but cause disruption to the education of the pupils. There are a number of ways to support and improve schools and the county council should intercede with the government to stop this academy process. I proposed this course of action at a county council meeting but the plan was rejected.

The Tories that run the authority are wedded to the political dogma of turning as many schools as possible into academies. They have already made their minds up.

What happened to the localism that the Tories say that they support?

Support for CPRE over HS2

FURTHER to the many letters regarding the HS2, its ever increasing costs and what one suspects, are the grossly exaggerated benefits it will provide, mine is in support of Phil Goode and the Campaign to Protect Rural England.

Other arguments both pro and anti are many and varied but cannot be proven, one way or another, until the deed has been done by which time, it's too late anyway.

However, we in this area have a precedent in the form of the M6 Toll which mirrored the over-enthusiasm and grossly overstated benefits, quoted by politicians and has proven to be an expensive and futile project.

It was vigorously protested against prior to construction, destroying miles of countryside and its wildlife - and has proven to be a flop. While the misery and destruction of going ahead is beyond doubt, the guaranteed benefits of not doing so no damage being done.

Thieves are urged to return garden item

TO the thieves who have stolen a crackle glass globe changing solar light from my garden. This is the second time this has happened.

These are not cheap to buy or replace. I will give you one week from this letter appearing in print to return it or then, if they are not forthcoming I will have no alternative but to send the video of you taking this globe, to the police and they can sort this out.

If it goes to the police you will have a criminal record for stealing, if it is not returned. Do you want this? You know who you are.

I pride myself in the way I keep my garden, it makes me very angry to think that there are people (and this includes children as well) who get a kick out of doing damage to my garden.

This is not the first time it has been vandalised.

Bus route change causing hardship

IN REPLY to Mr Lowe (Letters, July 26). If he had read my first letter correctly he would have seen that I am a champion of the 68 bus. The change of route has meant that a lot of people have now lost this bus, causing hardship to some and inconvenience to others.

As a socialist and ex-union shop steward I do not think I would have much in common with the other gentleman named in Mr Lowe's letter.

MPs wrong to label hospital news 'good'

THE downgrading of Stafford and Cannock Hospitals is totally the wrong direction for all, splitting care between Wolverhampton and Stoke is a worse case scenario as all our records are held at Stafford. It's wrong that Stoke and Wolverhampton have got enough funding to cater for the extra patients so why are our hospitals under-funded?

Night-time emergency patients will suffer because of the added journey times to reach Wolverhampton or Stoke as will the elderly and infirm and family members for visits.

This is wrong for Stafford MP Jeremy Lefroy and Cannock's Aidan Burley to label this as good news. The only way forward is for them to fight for the £56million shortfall in funding to maintain our hospitals which only amounts to just 24 hours membership fee of the EU.

This is wrong that this Government is in full support of the privatisation of our NHS, and it starts at Cannock and Stafford Hospitals. Now is the time for change and vote for a party that puts the UK and its people first.

HELEN, Hednesford

Buses the key to helping young people find work

Noah a muddy marvel

Noah Harper, aged eight, from Gentleshaw, might need his wellies when he takes part in sponsored mud run in aid of the Meningitis Trust

A CHASETOWN schoolboy will be tackling mud pits and obstacles in aid of the Meningitis Trust.

Noah Harper will take part in a 5km mud run at Eastnor Castle, Herefordshire, on October 20.

The eight-year-old, who lives in Chapel Lane, Gentleshaw, but attends Ridgeway Primary, was born 16 weeks prematurely at the University Hospital of Coventry and Warwickshire at Walsgrave.

Weighing just 1lb 6oz at birth, Noah was cared for by various hospitals until he was seven-months-old and then forced to have eye and heart-related surgery to survive.

His mother Katharine, aged 33, said: "We've always talked with Noah about how he was born and what he went through and he knows how grateful he should be.

"He wants to give something back. I'm very proud of him."

He hopes to raise more than £1,000. Visit www.justgiving.com/katharine-harper to donate.

COUNCILLORS in Cannock claim buses should be provided to out-of-town businesses and retail parks to help youngsters find jobs.

District councillors Zaphne Stretton and Danny Davies are calling on Arriva or another transport firm to put on services from estates in the Cannock Chase area to business parks such as Kingswood Lakeside, The Orbital and Hawks Green.

They say that without a bus service to firms creating new jobs, there is no incentive for youngsters to get into employment.

Norton Canes ward member Mrs Stretton said: "A lot of people in Norton Canes work at Sainsbury's but it's a long way and there's no public transport to get there.

Business

"Without public transport it puts people off going out and finding work - especially young people. We've got to give our young people a chance and the business and retail parks are where all the jobs are.

"Amazon runs a bus service from Walsall to Rugeley. Perhaps the business parks could come together and put on a similar service."

Councillor Davies, for Rugeley, says the problem is just as bad in his area. "It's all right jobs being on offer but if youngsters can't get to them it's useless," he said.

Arriva spokesman Keith Myatt, said: "We did provide a service to the Orbital and Kingswood Lakeside a few years ago. It was sponsored by Staffordshire County Council who took the decision to withdraw it as nobody used it."

Pet store donation is boost to charity

AN animal charity based in Cannock has been handed a grant to the tune of £3,000.

The Cliveglan Small Dog Rescue works to rescue abandoned animals and was handed the cash by Support Adoption For Pets, the independent charity established and supported by Pets at Home. The money will go towards the sanctuary's veterinary costs.

Clive Priest from Cliveglan Small Dog Rescue visited the Pets at Home store at the Orbital Centre in Cannock to collect the cheque. He also took along two of the animals cared for by the charity.

He said: "We are so grateful to receive such a generous donation from Support Adoption For Pets."

Store manager Amanda Owens said: "Cliveglan Small Dog Rescue does a fantastic and vital job rescuing and rehoming abandoned animals here in Cannock. This donation will help them to continue that important work."

UKIP move to boost Labour force, claims

A FOURTH Tory councillor from Cannock Chase has defected to UKIP after becoming disillusioned with her own party.

District councillor Linda Whitehouse, who represents Rawnsley, has now followed the moves made by two other district and one parish councillor.

She said: "As a local businesswoman operating from Hednesford I have become increasingly disillusioned by the way the Tories have tried to get us out of this recession which we can thank the spend, spend, Labour government for."

"I truly believe this country should have an immediate referendum on the EU and for some time I have been impressed by the way UKIP as a party has been progressing. UKIP have the policies I now want to support."

Imploding

Her switch follows that of former party colleagues John and Ann Bernard, together with parish councillor Alan Dean and his wife Margaret.

The group is setting up the first Cannock Chase branch of the UKIP party.

UKIP MEP for the West Midlands Mike Nattrass said: "The Tories are imploding in Cannock and more and more people from across the political spectrum are joining us."

The leader of the Tory party's district branch has admitted his party will have less political power following the defections. Councillor Paul Snape said the move means there will be fewer Tory councillors sitting on key committees within Labour-run Cannock Chase Council, so they will find it harder to block decisions.

Councillor Snape said: "It is disappointing and as leader I am sad. It leaves us with nine councillors, which makes it more difficult to be the opposition."

"We will have fewer people on committees and it will give Labour more opportunity to push things through. Essentially, it just gives them more power."

Chase MP Aidan Burley said he was also disappointed by the news.

Ramblers head for Snailbeach

THIS weekend's walk by the Chase & District Group Ramblers is a moderate seven-mile stroll at Snailbeach and Stiperstones, south of Shrewsbury. Departure time is 9am on Sunday, August 4, from Hednesford rail station car park, Anglesey Street.

Imogen Kilfoyle, community education lecturer, said: "The exhibition celebrates the students' achievements, creative skills and hard work in various mediums."

Make the most of forest

NINETY per cent of parents think children are losing their imaginations by the age of 10, a survey reveals.

They blame a lack of outdoor play and too much time spent on computers and games consoles.

Of the 2,000 parents of school-age children quizzed by the Forestry Commission, almost three-quarters thought today's children played outdoors less than they did and that half believe this directly influences how much imagination they have.

The survey was carried out ahead of a special day at the Forestry Commission's Birches Valley site to encourage children to make the most of the 'magical' forest environment.

Rachel Giles, of the Forestry Commission, said: "Forests are the perfect backdrop to inspire children's imaginations. Our research shows children aren't engaging in outdoor play to the same extent as their parents did."

A Fantastic Fairy Day with an activity trail and themed craft sessions takes place at Cannock Forest on August 14 from 10am to 2pm. Crafts will include making magic potions and a wand.

A related new trail is to be launched over the winter. Stick Man Trails will be run between October and January at 12 forest sites, including Cannock.

Dudley Hippodrome opened in 1938 on the site of the Opera House

The Hippodrome in 1970, 12 years after it became a bingo hall

The cast of Babes in the Wood on the Dudley Hippodrome stage in 1943

Inspecting damage at the burned-out Dudley Opera House in 1936

Hippodrome was magnet for a long list of top stars

THE opening of the elegant Dudley Opera House on Monday, September 4, 1899 was a spectacular event for the town.

Honoured guests included the Earl and Countess of Dudley, the mayor, and members of the town council.

They were joined by 'a large and fashionable audience' who tested the holding capacity of this 'handsome building, occupying a commanding position'.

Designed in the Italian Renaissance style, it was made of red brick with terracotta dressings, while its stage was of such height, width and depth that 'it will allow of the most elaborate scenic effects'.

That evening it was brought alive with a performance of The Mikado by the D'Oyly Carte Repertory Company, admirably supported by Dudley's orchestra.

It must have been a most proud night for John Maurice Clement, the man whose energy and enthusiasm had pushed forward this project on land he had purchased from the Earl of Dudley. Born in the town,

by Professor Carl Chinn

Clement had once worked at the Earl's estate office, but he was always drawn to theatre. From involvement in amateur dramatics he became a theatrical agent and in 1888 opened his first theatre, The Colosseum in Trindle Road. This had been a circus but it became the home of drama in Dudley until the Opera House was finished.

Like most owners of similar theatres Clement was unable to get by with productions of operas and Shakespearean plays. He had to widen the appeal with more popular plays and even variety shows. Dudley Opera House continued in this vein until 1936 when it closed after it was damaged badly by fire. The site was then bought by the Kennedy brothers who built the Hippodrome theatre and the Plaza cinema next door.

A splendid Art Deco building, the Hippodrome was designed by Archibald Hurley Robinson. The Hippodrome held 1,700 people and was one of the biggest and best-known venues across the Midlands. There were full houses as top artists and comedians appeared. Laurel and Hardy performed there, as did Bob Hope.

Variety, plays and musical comedy also drew sizeable audiences, while the D'Oyly Carte Company with operettas by Gilbert and Sullivan was popular, as were ice shows and celebrated pantomimes. But the theatrical heyday was brought to an end by the rise of television, and the Hippodrome closed as a live venue in February 1964.

It continued to be a popular venue as a bingo club from 1967. Sadly, though, this magnificent building has lain empty since 2005 and is threatened with demolition. Malcolm Palmer is one of many local people who oppose these plans. Instead they want the Hippodrome to be brought back into use.

Malcolm was instrumental in starting the Friends of the Hippodrome, which is campaigning to bring the building back into full and sustainable use.

From here we cross the second of Scotland's grand rail bridges the 'Tay Bridge', which is over 2 miles in length affording passengers further spectacular views of Tayside and the 'Kingdom of Fife' at a fairly sedate speed. A break of up to around 2 hours is taken at Dundee. The station is handy for the main amenities. ## Couple show they still have Faith in each other

Gary Smith and wife Margaret, of Great Wyrley who last week celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary

The couple on their wedding day in 1963

A GREAT Wyrley couple have 'kept the Faith' and last weekend marked 50 years of wedded bliss.

Gary Smith was just 16 when he met his now wife Margaret Glasgow back in 1961. A bread lad at the Co-Op bakery in Smethwick, he and his colleagues had been treated to tickets to the Birmingham Hippodrome to see Adam Faith and the John Barry Five. After meeting Warley-born Margaret, then aged 20 and a supervisor at Woolworth's on Bearwood Road, the couple arranged to meet at Gaumont Cinema the following night – and haven't looked back.

They were married on August 3, 1963 at Bishop Latimer Church in Winson Green, the service taken by the prison chaplain due to the regular vicar being ill.

The couple lived in a flat above a shop in Bearwood Road where eldest son Mark was born, but moved to Great Wyrley in 1966 and have since made their home there. Daughters Tracy and Maxine followed.

Margaret worked for a short time at Fleur-De-Lys on Watling Street and Gary held down a number of jobs in the printing trade.

Party

Margaret, now aged 73, became brown owl for a brownie troop and Gary was for five years secretary at Harrisons Sports & Social Club in Wharwell Lane.

In 2009, Gary formed the Great Wyrley Local History Society. The couple, of Sunbeam Drive, now have four grandchildren and celebrated with a family party.

Gary, now 69, said: "We've had our ups and downs like everyone else, but we've enjoyed our lives together."

Established since 1998

Paralympic ambassador inspires sensory room

Paralympic Ambassador Olivia Wilson and her mother Sue, with SCouncillor Christine Mitchell Stuart Murray, chief executive of WLCT and Caroline Knight, from Staffordshire County Council's Aiming High Programme

PARALYMPIC Flame Ambassador Olivia Wilson has opened a new sensory room and soft play area at a Chase Leisure Centre.

The room at the Stafford Road venue has been named after the 15-year-old visually impaired horse rider who is tipped to be a part of 2016 Paralympic Games in Rio. It provides a space for people to get active, improve their communication and social skills and make new friends.

Wigan Leisure and Culture Trust, which manages the centre on behalf of Cannock Chase Council, secured £68,000 from Staffordshire County Council to install the room.

Reception

Olivia was chosen to represent the district as Flame Ambassador last year, which involved her collecting the Flame from the Prime Minister in Trafalgar Square and returning to a welcome reception at the Civic Centre. She said: "It's a massive honour to have the room named after me."

WLCT chief executive Stuart Murray said: "I am delighted we have been able to provide this valuable facility."

Cannock Chase Councillor's cabinet member for culture and sport Christine Mitchell said: "It is a fitting tribute to Olivia, a truly inspiring young woman."

Handout for club

Strictly Ballroom – Sherif and Karen Hegazy with Rugeley Progressive WMC president James McKenry

A RUGELEY club has been boosted by a £200 handout from supermarket Asda. The Rugeley Progressive Working Men's Club, at Mansfield House, has been established for more than 100 years.

Originally catering for working men and miners, it is now a community hub where many people visit for live music and bands, for a dance on a Saturday or for community group meetings.

The club is, however, in need of funds to continue operating and to keep on top of maintenance and renovation costs. One project is to replace the old seats in the function room.

The club has been fundraising and has now been donated £200 through Asda's local community programme.

Club president James McKenry said: "We are grateful to Asda's support and the donation will go a long way towards renovating the club."

Holiday MP home early after burst blood vessel

AN MP has discovered that the summer recess – supposedly a chance to recharge and recuperate – has been more stressful than he thought.

Michael Fabricant, who represents Burntwood among his Lichfield constituency, was advised to come home early from a holiday in Montenegro by doctors after bursting a blood vessel in his eye.

The Conservative MP who has been on Have I Got News For You because of his humorous messages on social media, poured out his frustrations in a series of postings on Twitter.

He detailed a list of frustrations with hotel bookings, a transfer, EU immigration and border checks, Montenegrin police demanding bribes, a foreign taxi driver and his medical woes in a series of tweets totalling just over 200 words.

Michael Fabricant MP

Volume

He wrote: "The story so far: Flew on Friday to Dubrovnik. Despite email confirmation hotel knew nowt. After two hours faffing in high temperatures, room sorted. Saturday we were meant to be picked up to join English friends for holiday in Montenegro. No one comes. No one knows why. Then we get a taxi.

"Border closed between Croatia and Montenegro owing to high volume of traffic and Croatia in EU since July 1. Extra border checks equal long delays.

"Taxis have to go into Bosnia. Out of range of Dubrovnik, much fun on CB radio. Go east into Bosnia.

"At border, Montenegrin police want bribe to let us in.

Cab driver refuses. Much snarling in Serbo Croat. Eventually arrive at destination. After a days travelling in cabs, arrive destination. Place not ready. Chaos. We all go out for meal and blood vessel bursts in left eye.

"After two days and seeing Montenegrin optician, advised to go home. Cannot see out of left eye. Now on Gatwick Express to London (the train between Gatwick Airport and Victoria station).

"Next stop, go with friend who is meeting me to A&E at eye hospital. At least I have my passport to show I'm a Brit. Friends on hols still.

"As I am currently tweeting one-eyed and worried if there is permanent damage, do not expect re-tweets, Twanks (his own made up word for thanking people on Twitter), for responses. Good not to be hot."

Cadets join commissioner on streets

Police and Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis with one of the cadets during the event at Morrisons

STAFFORDSHIRE'S Police and Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis was joined by Young Police Cadets when he spoke to people in Cannock and Rugeley.

The 'Let's Talk - Saturday' event saw surgeries at Morrisons stores on Saturday, August 3. Two cadets were on duty to engage with the public at the stores. During the morning, almost 1,000 people were in talks over the Commissioner's new Safer, Fairer, United, Communities strategy, which is out for consultation until the end of August and can be viewed at www.staffordshire-pcc.gov.uk

Mr Ellis said: "The cadets are the future of Staffordshire and it's fantastic to see them developing confidence and skills as they serve their communities. It was really useful to talk to people one-to-one about the issues that matter."

Counterfeit vodka seized

BOTTLES of 'potentially hazardous' vodka have been seized by Staffordshire's trading standards officers.

Six bottles of illicit vodka containing a chemical used in industrial solvents were confiscated and off-licences in Cannock and Stafford are among those being investigated.

The county council is now warning shoppers and businesses to contact them if they suspect alcohol is counterfeit. The latest seizure is of a new type of vodka which contains t-Butanol, used in industrial solvents. If drunk, it can cause stomach problems, headaches, seizures and heart and respiration problems. The bottles feature a black label with a red star.

Decrease

Councillor Mike Lawrence, the council's communities leader, said they had seen a big decrease in the sale of counterfeit alcohol over the past two years. Since August 2011, more than 1,800 bottles of fake booze have been seized across Staffordshire. Trading standards officers visited every independent off-licence in Staffordshire, and suspected counterfeit items were taken away from 73 stores out of more than 400. These were tested in the council's own laboratories.

Some 21 prosecutions across the county have been brought, with the largest fine handed out being £10,000. Anyone who sees the bottles on sale anywhere in Staffordshire is asked to call the county's Fight the Fakes hotline on 01785 330356.

CLUB NEWS

Teddesley Hall venue for outing

(LOCAL HISTORY)
SOCIETY

THE July outing was to the Teddesley Estate which consisted of a walk and talk by Frank Craddock and his wife Liz.

Teddesley Hall was built in 1754 by Sir Edward Littleton who developed a large park surrounding the hall, noted for the quality of its cattle and its reputation for agricultural innovation.

This was later enhanced by his great nephew and heir, Edward Walhouse who changed his name to Littleton. In 1812 he became the first Baron Hatherton, his first wife being Hyacinth Mary Wellesley, niece of the Duke of Wellington.

Under Hatherton, Teddesley became a political and literary salon. It ceased to be the family home in 1920 and during WWII was requisitioned by the government to be used for billeting troops and prisoners of war.

After the war it remained empty for many years and was sold off by the fifth Lord Hatherton.

The hall was demolished by the new owner in 1954 although the servants quarters and stables still stand as listed buildings, although derelict.

Members were able to see the farm, the buildings of which are now barn conversions, but where the architecture of the 18th Century are still visible.

Ex-city mayor now new club president

LICHFIELD
ROTARY CLUB

LICHFIELD Rotary Club's changeover of officers take place in July and at their lunchtime meeting at Darnford Moors Golf Club, former president, Rev Roger Williams presented the badge of office to Chris Spruce, a councillor and former Mayor of Lichfield.

The club managed to raise in excess of £5,000 with a sponsored walk by several members along the entire byways and footpaths of Staffordshire over a two week period in May.

They are also grateful for the wonderful response by the public who helped to raise the total funds at a bottle stall at the medieval market at Lichfield Cathedral to £600.

In addition, at the Co-Operative Store on Boley Park they appreciated the public's help at a collection which raised more than £311.

These and other monies go towards local charities and also to the supply of emergency boxes which are sent all over the world to offer shelter for those effected by natural disasters.

Rev Roger Williams, centre, presents the Lichfield Rotary Club badge of office to new incumbent Chris Spruce. David Kershaw, 2014, president-elect, looks on

Enjoyable Bantock tour

ETCHING HILL WI

ETCHING Hill WI boarded a coach for their July meeting and set off for tea and a tour of Bantock House in Wolverhampton.

The evening was very enjoyable and informative, both the house and the gardens were extensive. It was the home of an industrialist and former mayor of Wolverhampton, Baldwin Bantock.

The house is now a museum of hidden treasures within 43 acres of parkland, used by the general public, and the house is surrounded by delightful formal gardens.

Well worth the visit.

Councillors' surgery date

THREE Conservative councillors on Cannock Chase have changed the date and location of their regular surgery.

The advice sessions held by Councillors Chris Anslow, Hyra Sutton and Paul Snape will be held on the second Wednesday of the month from 1-3pm at the upstairs meeting room at Cannock Library, Manor Avenue. The next will be on August 14.

Residents can also contact their councillors at any time to arrange a private meeting, using the phone numbers listed on the Cannock Chase District Council website.

Commissioner in visit to town

POLICE and Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis will talk to voluntary and community groups at a meeting in Rugeley next week.

"I want to hear what people's experiences are of policing and the criminal justice system," he said.

He will be at the Rose Theatre, Taylors Lane, from 10 to 11.30am on August 13.

Team helps to kit out African children

A JUNIOR football team has helped to kit out under-privileged children in South Africa.

Hawkins Sports Juniors, based in Cheslyn Hay, have provided for the third year running two nearly new strips for the youngsters, who regularly have to play with plastic bags tied together to make a football to play with. The donation was made through the Link4Life charity, through St Andrews church in Great Wyrley.

Hawkins Sports Juniors are always on the lookout for young players to join their teams from the age of six to 17. As the players grow there is always the need for a new kit and the chance to pass the kits on to charity.

For details on supporting Link4Life or to join the club, call 01922 413739.

Nearly 400 apply for 15 Tesco jobs

ALMOST 400 people applied for just 15 jobs at a new Tesco store opening in Cannock this month.

The new Tesco Express store is being built on the A34 Stafford Road and is due to open on August 20.

Bosses revealed an average of 26 people applied for each of the 15 available posts.

A total of 60 interviews were carried out, with all staff recruited from within the Staffordshire area.

Store manager Trudi Ball said: "I was thrilled by the response we received to our recruitment drive. There were so many great applicants which made the decision very tough when it came to selecting the successful 15." The store will be open seven days a week from 6am to 11pm and includes a cash machine, self-service tills, a bakery and free customer parking.

It will also offer a click and collect service where customers can order online or by phone and collect their shopping in store.

Proximity

When permission was sought, some nearby residents voiced concerns of congestion near their homes. Others said the store was not needed because of its close proximity to Cannock town centre.

But council chiefs said it would provide closer shops for residents and create new jobs.

Visitors can flock to see feathered friends

VISITORS to an animal zone at South Staffordshire College can see a feathered flock that have been rehoused as an endangered species. The Animal Zone at the college's Rod-baston Campus has opened a parrot and lorikeet complex.

Its launch comes as the college works with the Lory Conservation Network to run a conservation programme to save endangered species and has rehoused their larger parrots, including Amazon and cockatoos – as well as a group of seven Swainson's lorikeets – into new homes.

Lorikeets can live for more than 20 years and generally live in flocks, feeding on a variety of foods from nectar to pollen and fruits. Several species face threats that affect their population in the wild and the breeding programme implemented by South Staffordshire College will play a major role in the survival of the species.

The Lorikeets will enjoy a new walk-in aviary which will be open to visitors at set times. Pots of nectar can be bought to feed the birds with a donation from the total sales passed onto the Lory Conservation Network to help with their conservation.

Bench tribute follows death of sportsman

A MEMORIAL bench is to be installed at a golf club where a popular former footballer used to play.

Striker Mark Malcolm, nicknamed Marcus, played for clubs in Cannock in Walsall. He represented Hednesford Town FC from 1989 to 1993 and also spent time at Willenhall Town and Chasetown.

He died of heart failure at his home on Yale Road, Willenhall, aged 51, in April.

He was also a keen golfer and played a round on the day before he died. He was a member at Bloxwich Golf Club, where and a memorial bench is to be installed.

Committed

Paying tribute, his family described Mr Malcolm as a man who had an impact on everyone he met.

His son, Noel, aged 32, who also played for Chasetown in 2000-01, said: "He was an inspiration to all of us. He was really committed to his football and he loved his teams."

Mr Malcolm's daughter Laura, aged 22, added: "He was best friends with everybody."

Mr Malcolm also leaves a second son, Ryan, aged 25, his wife Linda and a six-year-old granddaughter, Olivia.

A former Pendeford High School student, Mr Malcolm grew up in Bushbury, Wolverhampton. Around 600 people turned up at his funeral.

The couple established a fibreglass manufacturing business together 18 years ago in Bloxwich, M&M Mouldings, where Mr Malcolm was a director. His widow is company secretary.

Scrum on down for tournament fundraiser

Organiser Tony Meehan, right, and Wednesbury North Councillor Peter Hughes ahead of the fundraising tournament

RUGBY teams from across the Midlands went head-to-head at a tournament held in honour of a five-week-old boy

Four sides took part in the inaugural event held at Wednesbury Rugby Club to raise cash for two good causes.

The club competed against Rugeley, Dudley Kingswinford and Barton. And it was Rugeley who took top honours, beating Barton in the final of the tournament held in memory of five-week-old Ryley Lucas Judge.

The baby, of Wednesbury, died at Wolverhampton's New Cross Hospital in 2011. Cash raised from the event, estimated to be around £800, will be split between the hospital's neo-natal unit and Macmillan Cancer Support.

Organisers hope the tournament will become an annual event with even more teams competing in future.

Organiser Tony Meehan said: "It was a great event and we are very grateful to the four teams who took part."

"This year has been absolutely superb and got everything off to a good start. Everyone had a really great time."

Buggy helps Millie cope

A DISABLED schoolgirl has been given a special buggy to get her on the move.

Millie Cope, from Rugeley, is now enjoying more days out with family and friends thanks to the equipment donated by Marks & Spencer and Newlife Foundation for Disabled Children.

The six-year-old was born with spina bifida, which means she has limited ability to move around independently, relying on the use of walking aides over short distances and the support of a wheelchair while attending school.

When out with family and friends, Millie had been using a standard buggy, which was easier to transport in their family car than her wheelchair, but she has now outgrown this.

Confidence

The new larger specialist buggy can still be easily folded up for transportation, but will also provide more comfort to Millie, meaning she is able to enjoy family days out and trips with friends, boosting her confidence in the process.

Millie's mum Sarah Cope said: "The new buggy is most definitely making a difference, not only to Millie but the whole family. It means we can access Cannock Chase and local canalside walks much more easily, rather than use the wheelchair, which is larger and harder to manoeuvre."

"We took Millie to Wales for the day and the buggy was much better to use on the sand. Millie loves being in it because it is very comfortable."

War memorial plan to honour the fallen is granted consent

PLANS for a war memorial in Burntwood have been given the go-ahead.

Lichfield District Council has approved the scheme for a £17,000 stone, bearing the names of soldiers who originate from the town and who died fighting for their country.

It will be placed at the Burntwood Memorial Institute Community Centre on Rugeley Road.

Association trustee Brian Harman said: "We are all absolutely delighted that the plans have been approved."

"We have been fundraising for so many years. Chasetown and Chase Terrace each have their own stones but we have never had one here in the Burntwood parish."

Wreaths

"There is a plaque inside the community centre, which we take off the wall and place outside on Armistice Day, but the stone will be outside permanently for people to place wreaths around."

The association has received donations towards the cost of the memorial from Burntwood Lions, the local Women's Institute and the Freemasons, as well as individual donations from people who want to remember their fallen relatives.

Mr Harman added: "We have received donations of around £4,000 and the community centre has agreed to raise more money by holding fundraising activities at the centre."

"Anyone who would like to contribute to the fund is more than welcome to do so and if anyone would like the name of a relative who came from Burntwood to be put on the stone then we would urge them to get in touch."

The stone will make its way from China and it is hoped it will arrive in time for Armistice Day.

An official opening ceremony will be held once it arrives. To donate to the memorial email burntwood.bmea@bt.com

Significant change for policing

POLICE and Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis has said new GPS technology will be a "small but significant change" for policing in Burntwood. Mr Ellis signed off the deal for all force cars to have the equipment in a bid to get them to incidents as quickly as possible.

Variety show spices up Heroes fund

A DANCE coach organised a variety show in aid of Help For Heroes.

Comedy, dance, music and magic were on the bill at the show organised by Tasmin Hackett, who teaches dance at Erasmus Darwin Academy, Burntwood, on a Saturday.

Artists gave their time for free to take part in the event at the Rose Theatre, Rugeley. Tasmin's brother-in-law Sean Wootton, aged 29, serves with the Royal Fusiliers. Tasmin said: "This is a charity close to my heart. Sean is in Wiltshire at the moment, where Help For Heroes is based and is receiving treatment for a back injury after falling off his Warrior tank."

It was the second event 22-year-old Tasmin has organised for the charity - it raised £1,228.

Last year she raised just under £3,000 from staging a dance show at the school in Bridge Cross Road. She said: "I wanted to improve things this year by holding the show in a theatre and making it a variety show instead of just dance," she said.

"Everyone gave their services free of charge, including the theatre, or which we are very grateful, so that all the proceeds can go to the charity."

A cheque will be handed to the charity's co-ordinator Shirley Ward.

Plea made by doctors over MMR vaccination

PARENTS in Burntwood whose children have not had the MMR jab are to be targeted as part of a summer vaccination campaign to prevent a measles outbreak.

Staffordshire County Council has sent letters to parents of 10-16 year olds urging them to get the vaccination.

Dr Alison Teale, from Staffordshire County Council's Public Health team, said: "Over the next few weeks, GPs will be sending letters to the parents of young people who haven't been fully vaccinated."

"It is important that parents and teenagers understand the risks and get advice on how to get vaccinated if they haven't received two doses of MMR," Dr Teale added.

The catch-up programme has been organised by GPs across Staffordshire and aims to target children born between 1997 and 2003.

Library offers reading help

ADULTS can get one-to-one support with reading at Burntwood Library tomorrow (Friday).

The free sessions are available from 5.30-6.30pm at the library on Sankeys Corner, Bridge Cross Road.

EATING OUT*Hoping to Pac them in at new Mexican diner

SOMEWHERE tucked away in a corner of Rugeley is a taste of Mexico. And to my mind it is the best thing that has happened to the town in years.

Forget McDonald's and Tesco, you can visit those places in any town. But there's only one Phat Pac's Diner.

American-born Theresa Harris has set up the venture – creating nine jobs – with her partner Agah Khan. Theresa became a lover of Mexican food while growing up in Palm Beach, Florida.

She has a passion for cooking and has combined the two to set up Phat Pac's, so-called in reference to her partner's figure.

Dips

"I always joke that he has a one-pack," she said. "But it's a fat one-pack. When we were trying to think of a name for the diner, we just hit on Phat Pac's," she added.

Theresa creates her own dishes, including home-made dips and guacamole – and working on the maxim that everything in the States is much bigger, the helpings are, well... huge.

And, as Theresa also runs a salon in Hednesford, it is fair to say the prices are a snip.

She and Agah have transformed the former cafe in Horse Fair into the diner. It officially opened last week and already looks to be taking off.

The diner opened with tables catering for 32. That will extend to 40, with plans to also instal seats outside, with an eat-in or takeaway option.

After leaving her homeland 13 years ago, Theresa lived in Birmingham, but found most eating outlets to be pretty much the same. "There was nowhere that catered for this kind of food," she said. "This is something we've always wanted to do, but it was finding the right time and place to do it."

The interior of Phat Pac's Mexican Diner in Horse Fair, Rugeley

Chips

At a launch party before the official opening, guests were treated to an array of tasty treats, from nachos and salsa, before taking their pick from the mains on offer.

A Mexican burger has all you could wish for at just £5, likewise the ultimate burritos, with the piece de resistance of sweet potato chips. The overall feel is that it has a cafe-style, culture and prices, but is a top notch, great value night out. Or day. Or whatever time you want to go as Phat Pac's is open for breakfast until noon.

What better way to start your day than with a burrito filled with all the ingredients from a full English breakfast? If that doesn't whet the appetite then how about waffles and pancakes?

There will also be weekly specials and Man v food-style challenges, while a record-breaking pancake eating attempt is on the cards.

Opening hours are 7am to 1pm and 3-9pm on Sundays, 6am-8pm on Mondays to Wednesdays and until 11pm on Thursday to Saturday. Call 01889 582904 or visit the Phat Pac's Facebook page.

Novel plea to help children's charity

Manager Emma Gibson and volunteer Jess Walker, who are appealing for more books at Newlife Homestore

BOOK lovers are being urged to part with their well-thumbed stock to help a disability charity.

The Newlife Homestore in Hemlock Way, Cannock, is looking to boost its wide range of second-hand books.

The shop, part of the children's disability charity Newlife Foundation, offers an extra incentive for people to donate books. For every one the charity receives, donors will receive a 50p voucher which can be redeemed against goods in the store. The offer includes one voucher for every two children's books, and only one voucher can be redeemed against any one item of stock.

Newlife spokesman Jane Vincent said: "Our book section was launched in 2009 and it has proved really popular."

The store also sells furniture, lighting and soft furnishings which are donated by leading high street retailers and manufacturers. The Homestore and nearby Newlife Superstore fund the work of the Foundation.

HS2 to boost job prospects, says company

ONE of the county's biggest employers says highly-skilled workers will be attracted to Staffordshire as a result of the HS2 high-speed rail line.

Trains will call at Stafford station at least once an hour under plans for the £42.6bn scheme, which will cut through swathes of countryside.

Hybrid trains starting their journey in Liverpool that are able to run on both the West Coast Mainline and the HS2 route will call at Stafford before joining the high-speed line at Lichfield.

Contracts

Power and engineering giant Alstom, which employs 2,000 workers in Stafford, is looking to bid for a slice of £8bn HS2 contracts to build the high-speed trains for the project.

It comes after the firm released a new image of what the 'bullet' train could look like if the firm was successful in winning HS2 contracts.

The company said being linked to HS2 would make Stafford more attractive for top engineers from the north and the south.

Spokesman Jonathan

Smith said: "We have a massive presence in Stafford and with the town being linked up to HS2 it makes the town a lot more attractive to highly skilled engineers and potential employees."

"We think it would encourage people and businesses to come to the town and Staffordshire."

"But we don't think HS2 is the be all and end all. What we need to see is regional train networks, trams and other public transport join up with HS2 and provide a complete door-to-door service."

"It will not only create jobs but it will make travel between our cities easier."

The firm hopes to win work to build up to 80 of the trains which could spark a jobs surge.

MP opposes waste plan

A £20 million waste plant planned for Huntington has been branded an 'extreme monstrosity' by South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson. Plans for the anaerobic digester in Cocksparrow Lane, on the site of the former Littleton Colliery, have been resubmitted two years after residents successfully fought the plan. A 295-name petition has been presented to Parliament and Mr Williamson said: "If this goes ahead, it will be an extreme monstrosity and I will continue to do all I can to get it stopped."

Hollywood pub next stop for bus blinds

WALSALL, Wolverhampton, West Bromwich, Birmingham – next stop Hollywood, all change.

Anyone looking closely at this picture of superstars Noel Gallagher, Russell Brand and Morrissey enjoying a night out at The Cat and Fiddle on Hollywood's Sunset Boulevard will notice a touch of the Black Country lurking among the stars.

The wall of the fabled bar is adorned with none other than bus blinds from the West Midlands and Staffordshire, bearing names of stopping points such as Essington, Bradley, Colesey, Wednesbury, Stourbridge, Pattingham and Cheslyn Hay.

Manually

The old destination blinds, used by drivers to display where they were going to, have been hanging in the Cat and Fiddle for more than 20 years.

The full list is of 60 destinations ranging from West Bromwich to Wombourne, Bilbrook to Blakeley Green, Princes End to Penn Fields and Bilston to Bloxwich. They used to be wound on manually by drivers. Today's buses have electronic displays.

The Cat and Fiddle, where the blinds are displayed, has been a British themed pub in Hollywood for more than 30 years and was opened by Londoner Kim Gardner, the bassist with bands such as Creation and Ashton, Gardner & Dyke, who recorded three albums and had a number three hit in 1971 with Resurrection Shuffle.

The Cat and Fiddle moved from its original premises on Laurel Canyon Boulevard to 6,350 Sunset Boulevard.

Noel Gallagher, Russell Brand and Morrissey at the Cat and Fiddle

The destination blinds at the pub

Kim Gardner died in 2001 but his widow Paula and daughter Ashlee continue to run the pub.

Ashlee, aged 30, said the blinds had been bought at an antiques fair in the Midlands by her father – but she did not know where.

She said: "They seem to be popular with the customers and British people are interested in them."

Ashlee said her father was proud of his English heritage and 'wanted to celebrate that in LA'.

Kevin Chapman, from the West Midlands Campaign for Better Transport,

Ashlee Gardner, who runs the bar

said: "The blinds would either be from Midland Red or perhaps the old Wolverhampton Transport Corporation."

Former Darlaston man Stephen Page, who left his job as a Wolverhampton Council youth worker in the 1990s to move to Hollywood, said he had visited the bar in 1994 when the blinds were on the ceiling.

Destination blinds are seen as collectors' items. One from the former Wolverhampton Transport Corporation or its successor WMPTE believed to date from the 1970s sold for £82 on eBay in May.

What's On!

Party at the Love Shack

THE American band who dazzled the 1980s pop scene with their party music and sci-fi retro 60s stylings, The B-52s, are making a rare UK appearance in Birmingham this summer.

The original trio of Fred Schneider, Kate Pierson and Cindy Wilson, who with wonderful immodesty have dubbed themselves 'the world's greatest party band', have a gig at Birmingham's O2 Academy on Thursday, August 15.

Survived

The band from Athens, Georgia, exploded onto the scene at the close of the 1970s with quirky surf punk number Rock Lobster and went on to have hits with Give Me Back My Man, Love Shack and Room. Kate is also known for guest vocals on tracks by REM and Iggy Pop.

The group survived the death of guitarist Ricky Wilson, Cindy's brother, and came back in 2008 with Funplex, their first album in 16 years.

Fifth member Keith Strickland no longer tours but the crucial three will be joined by a band set to include former Duran Duran and Bowie drummer Sterling Campbell, ex-Waitresses member and bassist Tracy Wormworth and keyboardist Paul Gordon. The latter's pop trivia claim to fame is that he wrote the theme music for Transformers, Robots in Disguise.

Call the venue or visit its website for further details.

Comic Ed enters middle age in his roaring 40s

CRITICALLY-acclaimed stand-up comedian Ed Byrne is embracing middle-age as he reaches his roaring 40s.

A self-confessed 'miserable old git' since the age of 23, the Irish funnyman is urging fans to join him as he truly comes of age. While for some, this may mean the purchase of a sports car, Byrne is taking a different outlook, as he lets out his battle cry of: "I am in my 40s, hear me roar."

A regular on panel shows like Mock The Week, Byrne has previously performed at major comedy venues.

His Different Class show enjoyed a full run at the Edinburgh Fringe in 2008, following on from the success of his Standing Up Falling Down tour, which was the festival's biggest-selling comedy show in 2006.

Presenter

Byrne has also performed at top comedy clubs in New York and Los Angeles. He has made five appearances on NBC's Late Night With Conan O'Brien and has been a presenter on RTE's Ed Byrne's Just for Laughs, which ran for four series.

Acting credits include playing a grungy teenager in a Christmas special of Father Ted.

Byrne's tour takes in three dates in the West Midlands, beginning with Dudley Concert Hall on

Oh, what a show as an icon returns

POP star turned theatre star Marti Pellow plays revolutionary Che Guevara, the cynical narrator in the latest revival of Tim Rice and Andrew Lloyd Webber's classic musical Evita.

The former singer with 1980s hit-makers Wet Wet Wet is stepping into a role previously played by David Essex and, on film, by Antonio Banderas.

The show is staged at Wolverhampton's Grand Theatre from Monday, August 19, to Saturday, August 31. Playing Eva Peron, the iconic wife of 1940s and 50s Argentine dictator Juan Peron, the role that made Elaine Paige a star and played by Madonna on screen, is Portuguese singer and actress Madalena Alberto. Her previous stage roles include playing Edith Piaf and as Fantine in the 25th anniversary production of Les Miserables.

Pellow has had successes in the musicals Chess, Chicago, Blood Brothers and Jekyll & Hyde.

Evita's famous songs include Don't Cry For Me Argentina, Oh What A Circus, You Must Love Me and Another Suitcase in Another Hall. Call 01902 429212.

Irish duo in theatre date

POPULAR Irish duo Foster & Allen bring their current tour to Cannock's Prince of Wales Centre later this year.

After All These Years lands at the Church Street venue on November 19.

Their career together spans 40 years, having began in the 70s when Mick (Foster) and Tony (Allen) played in country music bands around Ireland. They got together in a small group in 1975 and embarked on a short UK tour.

Foster & Allen was formed following an idea to play 'easy listening' music with a touch of traditional Irish instruments.

Charts

Since then they have enjoyed huge success. A Bunch of Thyme was their first Irish number one back in 1978. It stayed in the charts for 40 consecutive weeks, but it was four years before it entered the UK top 40, prompting an appearance on Top of the Pops.

Songs such as Old Flames and Maggie remain popular as Foster & Allen continue to tour twice a year. In all, they have released 30 albums and 13 DVDs.

They had five No. 1 Hits in Australia and New Zealand, and among their TV appearances is their own series on RTE in Ireland.

Keri Russell

The Americans

ITV, 9.50pm

If you want to make a hit American saga, you need at least one protagonist with a dark secret who's keeping their crimes under wraps. Like Dexter and Breaking Bad, that reliable formula has also worked a treat for this series. In the latest offering, Elizabeth (Keri Russell) is bent on revenge after learning of the assassination of a Soviet General whom she knew from her formative years as an agent. Phillip (Matthew Rhys) offers to help while taking a step forward in their separation. The question is: has their teamwork given the FBI a clue as to their identity?

Faye Marsay

The White Queen
BBC1, 9pm

It's a testament to this period drama that we're still gripped, even though you don't need to be an amateur historian to know what's going to happen to some of characters. So, we can all nod knowingly this week, as the new king is feeling a bit jumpy about his enemies. His way of dealing with the threat is to honour those he knows are loyal to him, but his wife has a different approach as she talks to Brackenbury in secret. Meanwhile, Elizabeth is so desperate for allies, she even accepts an offer of help from Margaret Beaufort, despite her daughter's warnings.

Pick of the Week

David hopes his new role is a class apart

When he's not swimming for charity, scoping out variety acts on Britain's Got Talent, or writing children's books, David Williams is a brilliant comedy actor.

Despite the fact he's not done anything comedic on our screens for a while, his CV is crammed with classic moments, characters and catchphrases.

And Williams makes a welcome return to our screens tonight, albeit without Little Britain sidekick Matt Lucas, disappointingly, in this new six-part sitcom.

Despite many of us stating our happiest and most amusing days were those we spent at school, the classroom has been a relatively untapped resource of material for comedy writers until recent years.

However, following the runaway success of The Inbetweeners and the promise of the Jack Whitehall vehicle Bad Education in recent years, the Beeb have commissioned another classroom comedy.

Just like the latter, Big School is set in and around a dysfunctional staff room, and also like Bad Education, there is a story of unrequited love between two of the teachers at the centre.

Williams explains: "I wanted to do something a bit like Remains Of The Day – the story of these two servants who were in love with each other but they can't quite express it."

"I was thinking what could be the modern take on that? I thought well a school's quite a good environment because you don't get any privacy at school."

"There's always corridors teeming with kids, staff rooms, dining rooms, whatever. So I thought that could be a rather good setting and I thought it's a universal experience that 99 per cent of us went to school, or have got kids at school."

Williams plays 40-something Deputy Head of Chemistry Mr Church, who is about to resign from Greybridge following a particularly dramatic experiment with liquid nitrogen and 1000 ping pong balls. But the arrival of new French teacher Miss Postern changes his mind.

"They're quite suited to each other in some ways that you think well who else is going to have you," says Catherine Tate, who plays Miss Postern.

"The seed is planted at the beginning for Mr Church. He's quite taken with her and of course she's quite flattered that someone could go to such lengths."

"It's nice that throughout the series he makes quite grand gestures that of course all fall completely flat on their face. But everyone likes a grand gesture."

Although some of the characters may appear clichéd, the top-notch cast makes the staff of Big School a bit more believable and funny than the aforementioned Bad Education. One of these is lothario PE teacher Mr Gurn (Philip Glenister) who makes no secret of wanting to "plough" the new member of staff, prompting Mr Church to take advice from a pupil on how to succeed with women in tonight's opening episode.

However, Mr Church's phone doesn't send picture messages, so he can't follow Maryon's first suggestion, so that just leaves the option of offering Miss Postern a lift home.

David Williams stars in Big School, Friday, BBC1, 9pm

Best of the Rest

MONDAY

My Cyberstalking Hell: Liz McClarnon Channel 5, 10pm

Liz McClarnon rose to fame in girl group Atomic Kitten, and she's enjoying the limelight a second time round since reuniting with her fellow bandmates for The Big Reunion. Of course we've seen her ever-smiley face pop up in TV presenting slots over the years as well, but this one-off programme tells of how often Liz's smile may have been painted on – because behind it all, she was suffering at the hands of a stalker. So after feeling so threatened for her safety, she's on a mission to raise awareness of how serious stalking can be. She trawls through some of the messages she received which ranged from cheeky, to threatening sexual assault, before she meets other people who have had similar experiences.

TUESDAY

On the Run ITV, 9pm

The next hour of viewing isn't going to be the most light-hearted you've ever seen, but it's certainly interesting, and nothing like anything else on the box at the moment. The one-off documentary follows a manhunt trying to track down three wanted criminals – yep, they're on the run – so they can be brought to justice. Presented by Mark Williams-Thorne and Natasha Kaplinsky, we get a rare insight into how their undercover team trace and with the help of the police, apprehend those on the run from the law. Of these three wanted men, one is a sex offender, one a violent fugitive and the other a burglar and car thief, but surely they won't be running for long...

You're Killing My Son: The Mum Who Went on the Run Channel 4, 9pm

In 2012, seven-year-old Neon Roberts was diagnosed with a brain tumour leading to doctors prescribing potentially life-saving radiotherapy treatment. Before they could go through with it, however, his mum, Sally, disappeared along with the boy – she felt that an alternative therapy was the best option and was willing to go to extreme lengths to do what she felt was in Neon's best interests. This documentary, shown as part of the Cutting Edge strand, tells the remarkable story of a family at odds with one another and the medical profession; of the courts that ruled against Sally and in favour of the treatment, and of the brave lad himself, who has had to endure no end of suffering due to his condition.

WEDNESDAY

Live International Football ITV, 7.30pm

England and Scotland face each other in this friendly match at Wembley Stadium, as they look horns for the first time since 1999, when they met at the old Wembley Stadium in the second leg of a Euro 2000 qualifying play-off. Although Scotland won 1-0 on that occasion it did not prove to be enough to prevent England claiming a place at the tournament, as Kevin Keegan's men had triumphed 2-0 in the first leg of the play-off four days earlier at Hampden Park. The hosts will enter this contest as favourites, but the Scots will be determined to impress once again after claiming a surprise 1-0 victory away to Croatia in a World Cup qualifier last time out.

I'm Spazticus

Channel 4, 10.50pm

Given how caught up with political correctness we are as a nation, there's every chance you've clocked the title of this hidden camera show and recoiled in horror. And that's fine – so long as you give the programme ten minutes of your time to prove you're right. Because, actually, this is an amusing take on a prank show that pokes fun at that idea of the politically correct.

With so much hype surrounding the first series when it aired last year, those ratings can't be wrong. For the uninitiated, cameras follow the pranksters as they wind up members of the public in a unique and hilarious way. First up, unsuspecting celebrities are fooled into endorsing a bizarre new charity for amputees.

My Cyberstalking Hell: Liz McClarnon, Monday, Channel 5, 10pm

THURSDAY

My Dwarf Family ITV, 9pm

Roughly one in 25,000 children are born with achondroplasia, the most common form of dwarfism every year, and this programme delves into how it affects family life. Following three families who each have to deal with the effects of achondroplasia, it gives us an honest glimpse into life with the limiting condition. Gillian is a small mother who is keen to protect her small 13-year-old daughter from the issues she faced as a teenager. Meanwhile, Rebecca is hoping her dwarfism won't in any way jeopardise her chances of starting a family with Ben, an average height man. And Phil has a tough love approach to preparing his small son Paddy for secondary school.

FRIDAY

The Burrowers BBC2, 9pm

You can always rely on Chris Packham to shine a spotlight on the nation's underappreciated wildlife. With this new three-part documentary series, he's going underground to investigate the lives of some of our subterranean mammals, including water voles, rabbits, badgers and moles. It's no mean feat, as the nature of their burrows, warrens, setts and dens means they're not exactly easy environments in which to film – so to combat the problem, Chris and the BBC's nature team use full-scale replicas of their habitats. Worthy of particular note is the world's largest man-made rabbit warren – it was made by pouring concrete into an abandoned warren, before returning months later to excavate it.

Honda is number one in used-car reliability table

HONDA is the most reliable used car manufacturer in the UK for the eighth consecutive year, according to research by What Car? and Warranty Direct.

The Japanese brand topped the survey of 38 manufacturers and 50,000 live Warranty Direct policies on three to eight-year old vehicles.

Once again, Asian manufacturers dominated the study of the most reliable brands, with Suzuki and Hyundai second and third behind Honda. Only Chevrolet and Ford break the Far Eastern stranglehold of the top 10.

At the other end of the scale, luxury and prestige marques Bentley, Land Rover and Porsche are the most likely to break down – 86 per cent of Bentleys suffer a problem each year, making it Britain's least dependable car maker.

What Car? editor-in-chief Chas Hallett said: "Honda's success in the reliability stakes is down to low failure rates, and when cars do go wrong they're easy and cheap to fix."

"Reliability is one of the key attributes that buyers look for when looking to make a used purchase, so manufacturers that can demonstrate that quality will always fare well."

Strained

The manufacturers at the bottom end of the table could learn a thing or two from their Japanese counterparts.

Warranty Direct managing director Duncan McClure Fisher said: "Household budgets are already strained, so the last thing you want is a vehicle that costs you yet more unwanted bills. That is why it pays to research cars before you buy – make the wrong choice and you could land yourself with a car that causes you nothing but hassle and money."

Overall, the most reliable models are the Mitsubishi Lancer and Vauxhall Agila, both of which also star as the cheapest to repair. The least reliable model is the Audi RS6 but the iconic Porsche 911 is the most expensive to fix, with an eye-watering average repair bill of £1157.04.

Electrical faults are the most common across all cars, with almost a quarter (23.5 per cent) needing a visit to the garage in an average year. Axle and suspension faults are also common, affecting 22 per cent of cars.

On a good number with the Fiat 'magic'

By Matt Kimberley

THE Fiat 500 is a brand in its own right. Arguably in some ways the 500 badge transcends Fiat itself – and the Italian firm isn't daft: it's spreading that name around new models to capture some of the 500's verve.

Here's the next stage of the 500 family expansion: the 500L MPW. You have to wonder whether there were a few wayward translations on the road to naming it, but one of Fiat's names for it is the "Magic Power Wagon" (no, really). At least, once you've finished giggling, the kids will love going for a ride in a car that sounds as though it belongs in a Disney film.

Joking aside, the 500L MPW has an extra 20cm grafted onto the same chassis as the standard 500L, giving it enough boot space for two occasional-use rear seats. They don't come as standard but can be added for an extra £800 or so to create what Fiat calls a 5+2 layout.

The legroom in the two rearmost seats is tight and they're best reserved for the smallest children in the car. They also reduce the five-seater version's 560-litre boot space by 70 litres when folded flat.

With them raised the remaining luggage space is negligible, as with most seven-seaters you can buy at just 4.35 metres long and 1.78 metres wide (excluding the mirrors).

Its high roof and shoulder line make it look bigger than it is, but you're certainly glad of the slimline dimensions when it comes to urban driving.

It's surprisingly nimble as you dash into side streets and to be honest it doesn't feel like a people-carrier at all... until you fill it with screaming kids.

While the third row of seats is, well, cramped, there's much better news from the middle bench seat. There's acres of space for heads, shoulders, knees and toes, with a driver of more than six feet leaving plenty of room behind him even for adult legs.

The seats are unusually soft and comfortable in an age of increasingly firm padding, and – despite the rather odd-looking 'inscription' style upholstery graphics – the front five seats are very likeable.

Heavily

Similarly, the chunky steering wheel with 'squirrel' design leather, and the solid ancillary stalks behind it. The clutch for this 1.6-litre diesel model is sprung just heavily enough to offer appropriate resistance but lightly enough to make low-speed ratio-shuffling a breeze for your left leg. The gear shift itself is notchy; more so than some rivals, and takes a slightly firmer and more committed push to locate a cog in the widely-spaced gate.

Any family car needs to be practical and the 500L MPW delivers in spades.

There are upper and lower glove boxes, and although the former's lid hinge mechanism is a little primitive, together they offer loads of storage space. On top of these two are shelves and bins of various shapes and sizes that would be fit for loose change, receipts and gadgets.

Not so practical on this higher-spec Lounge model is the fact that you can't see the cruise control stalk because it's behind the steering wheel. It's not difficult to use 'blind' but it does take a bit of trial and error.

This 104bhp 1.6-litre diesel engine is hardly a powerhouse, but it does offer useful punch from around 1,900rpm on the stylish rev counter up to about 3,200rpm. Given that it was almost brand new during the test you can expect it to loosen up a little at both ends of the rev range as the odometer spins on.

There's a more powerful 1.6 diesel, but it's best to avoid the low-powered 1.3, which really struggles to pull the MPW's mass.

The 500L MPW, silly names and small flaws aside, has an endearing quality about it.

It does a job and it feels cheerful, which makes it a relaxing and pleasant car in which to take the kids to school, parties or the beach.

Like the 500 hatchback it's highly customisable and handy touches like the movable boot floor, in-boot hooks, additional 12-volt charging sockets and large tailgate lip 'seat' make it a real-world star.

The Fiat 500L MPW is the smallest seven-seater on the market

Inside, the 500L offers good versatility with its various seating layout options

Insurance advisers praise Volvo's safety programme

THE Volvo City Safety system, fitted to more than one million Volvos worldwide, has been applauded for its ability to help drivers avoid low speed crashes.

The praise comes from Thatcham, which administers the Association of British Insurers group rating system for cars and commercials.

Alongside Volvo Car's Pedestrian Detection with full auto-brake and the newly launched Cyclist Detection system that joins Volvo's Lane Departure Warning (LDW) system and Blind Spot Info System (BLIS), Volvo continues to be at the forefront road safety.

Volvo Car UK managing director Nick Connor said: "With City Safety AEB now fitted as standard across all new production Volvos except the XC90, it's fantastic to see the technology recognised by Thatcham, ultimately allowing Volvo drivers to enjoy big cost savings on their insurance. The continued introduction of all these lifesaving technologies links back to our Vision 2020 long term objective that by 2020 no one should be killed or injured in a new Volvo."

Thatcham Group rating manager, Howard Barron added: "Our Crash and Safety team have conducted rigorous AEB testing on all new Volvos fitted with their City Safety AEB technology, in line with our insurer ratified AEB testing protocol."

Rigorous

As a result of the successful testing we have been able to recommend to the ABI's Group Rating panel an adjustment in these Volvo model's insurance grouping. For consumers this should mean reduced insurance premiums and safer motoring, not just for themselves but also other road users."

Thatcham has proven that City Safety reduces accident rates and relevant repair costs since its XC60 launch in 2008.

It also prevents expensive personal injury claims for whiplash caused by low speed rear end shunts, and rules out the need to provide a hire vehicle while a driver's car is in for repair.

The European Commission has suggested widespread adoption of AEB could reduce accidents by up to 27 per cent, potentially saving 8,000 lives a year and reducing insurance claims by up to £6.3 billion.

Silverstone day in memory of Kevin

KEVIN Ash was first and foremost a family man who adored his three daughters and wife, but he also happened to have a job he loved, as a motorcycle journalist.

Having written for MCN for 20 years or more and having a regular Daily Telegraph column as well as writing for publications across the world, he travelled far and wide to ride every type of bike you could imagine, to give his honest views to both industry and the public. Sadly on one of these occasions in January of this year he lost his life.

As a way of a remembering Kevin Ash, his wife Caroline and MCN road tester Adam Child have come up with 'Kevin's Last Lap', which will be held at Silverstone International Circuit on Friday, August 9, 2013 from 4pm.

There will be an auction in aid of the Kevin Ash Trust (set up for his daughters' education) which will be hosted by BBC F1 presenter Suzi Perry, a personal friend and colleague of Kevin who worked with him at the Telegraph.

Leathers

The evening will start off with the chance for you to ride your bike around the Silverstone International Circuit. All who attend can take part for a donation of £5 per person.

Auction lots have been donated from across the industry, such as a full set of riding kit from Alpinestars, a set of MotoGP racer Dani Pedrosa's leathers, a signed photograph from Valentino Rossi and passes to MotoGP, World Superbike and British Superbike events.

Pillion rides with the MCN road testers, Adam Child and Michael Neaves, will also be available. There will be a live band, food and refreshments at the event too.

So why not go along and share the evening? For more information and to register your interest or attendance, go to: <https://www.facebook.com/#!/KevinAshFund> or <http://kevinslastlap.eventbrite.co.uk/>

Motoring

Both of the Suzuki Swift 4x4 models are powered by a 1.2-litre petrol engine producing 94PS

Suzuki set to fill gap in market

By John Griffiths

SUZUKI has made its name as a maker of small cars and 4x4s, so it comes as a surprise that it's taken until now to combine the two.

But as traditional SUVs have grown larger and more expensive, there's a clear gap in the market for a car with all-weather ability that's cheaper to buy and run than many standard hatchbacks.

After all, by no means everyone who lives in the countryside is a millionaire, and for the environmentally conscious there are fewer greener alternatives, with fuel consumption averaging better than 50mpg.

So, enter the Suzuki Swift 4x4, based on the Japanese company's best-selling hatchback, which could be yours for a little over £12,600.

Its main competitor is the Fiat Panda. Yes Suzuki still produces the Jimny but that's a different kettle of fish.

It's a more traditionally built 4x4, a sort of baby Vitara, but its accomplished off-road performance requires compromises which impact on its ride comfort and handling on the road. Not so the Swift 4x4: in fact from its appearance or driving experience you'd be hard pressed to spot any differences with the standard hatchback. Unless, that is, you pay an extra £1,000 for the top-of-the-range model with its special bodykit.

There are no levers or buttons to worry about. The four-wheel drive system is fully automatic with a viscous coupling proportionally directing power to the rear wheels when the front ones start to slip. The coupling is little bigger than a clenched fist: in fact the whole 4x4 system adds just 65kg to the car's weight. The result is little impact on performance, just 5mpg less and a 10g/km increase in CO2 emissions.

The test drives took place in North Wales, with 20 miles or so of steep inclines and dirt tracks through the Berwyn Mountains, where first and second gears were the order of the day. It was pleasantly surprising to find we had averaged 42mpg, so 50mpg should be entirely feasible in day-to-day use. Both 4x4 models are powered by the Swift range's 1.2-litre petrol engine, one of the most powerful in its class with 94PS on tap.

Envy

With a 0 to 62mph time of 13.3 seconds it's a little slower off the mark than the standard hatchback. Yet it doesn't seem to struggle – its performance on the open road, and at motorway speeds, was something of a revelation with low noise levels and a civility which would be the envy of cars with much more power to spare.

The extra 25mm ride height (to accommodate the 4x4 system and give those who venture off road a bit more ground clearance) doesn't seem to have affected the road holding or supple ride, either.

That's as it should be. This new Swift is not aimed at wannabe explorers, it's a car for those who need to drive come rain, sleet or snow and who want the extra traction and security of four-wheel drive at an affordable price.

Suzuki is dipping its toes into a new market sector so – for the time being at least – there isn't the option of a 4x4 with the Swift range's 1.3-litre diesel engine. But with the petrol engine's economy, lower price and the petrol/diesel price differential that's only likely to be an issue for higher mileage drivers.

The 4x4 comes in five-door, five seat SZ3 and SZ4 grades, the two best-equipped models in the Swift range. List prices are £13,819 and £15,739 but – at least until September – Suzuki has included the new car in its 'VAT free' offer.

That works out at £12,616 and £13,116 respectively. The SZ3 is well-equipped by class/price standards with ABS and other electronic braking systems, plus an electronic stability programme helping the four-wheel drive to keep you safe.

Front, side and curtain airbags are also standard, along with convenience features such as electric windows, driver's seat and steering wheel multi-adjustment, electrically-heated and adjustable door mirrors, manual air conditioning, and a radio/CD player with remote controls on the steering wheel.

Step up to the SZ4 and you also get automatic air conditioning, automatic headlamps and a 4x4 body kit. The wheel arch extensions, side skirts and front and rear skid plates emphasise the fact you've got the 4x4 version, as well as offering some protection over uneven ground.

SPORT

Liddiard's wicket tally proves to be clincher

JAMES LIDDIARD'S four-wicket burst set Lichfield on course for a three-wicket victory against Old Wulfs Tettenhall.

Liddiard claimed 4-29 to help his side win a low-scoring match and leapfrog Whittington into seventh place.

James Wilkinson claimed 3-28 and Riley Ward 2-17 as Old Wulfs were dismissed for 132 with Mathusathan Rabindranath top-scoring with 39.

Lichfield were 13-2 and 77-5 but an unbeaten 38 from Tom Stone and Ward's 33 helped them reach their victory target for the loss of seven wickets.

Ben Hallam claimed 3-49 and Sam Thelwall took 2-39 for Old Wulfs.

Half-centuries from John Darby and Danny King were the cornerstone of Hammerwich's winning draw against Cannock and Rugeley.

Darby top-scored with 54 and King hit 51 in Hammerwich's 203-6 declared.

Neil Walton claimed 3-36 for Cannock and Rugeley.

Cannock and Rugeley ended the game on 117-6 with Joe Heath (27) and Simon Hawkins (26 not out).

Cork can't stop Albion or Anelka

Cork City 0 Albion 6
ALBION dominated from the off and it was little surprise when they took the lead on 25 minutes.

Graham Dorrans eventually delivered a fine cross to the near post, where Nicolas Anelka stooped to force the ball home with his body.

Just before the break, Anelka moved through mid-field and squared for Dorrans, who bent a left-foot shot into the bottom corner.

The Baggies raced into a 4-0 lead just four minutes into the second half with two goals of real quality, scored by Anelka and James Long.

Anelka completed his hat-trick on 63 minutes as Albion refused to let up, with Long the provider this time. Dorrans rubbed salt into the Cork wounds with a controversial sixth goal, 17 minutes from time.

The offside flag went up against Anelka and, as the hosts stopped, Dorrans burst from midfield to collect James Morrison's through-ball and take it round the keeper to score.

Bartley winner halts Pilgrims progress

Kyle Bartley

Birmingham 3 Plymouth 2

BIRMINGHAM manager Lee Clark was encouraged by the performance of his young side in their 3-2 Capital One Cup first-round victory over Plymouth after extra time.

Kyle Bartley scored the winner in the second minute of extra time to seal Blues' passage into the next round and Clark predicted his side could be on the brink of fresh success.

Clark said: "They are a great bunch of lads. We have a great spirit. They want to learn and if they continue to do that I think we could do a lot more."

Blues

The former Huddersfield boss was not happy with certain aspects of Birmingham's play, however.

He said: "To give away two goals indicated that something was not right. Fortunately we had enough in the locker to win."

"To give Plymouth the opportunities was the disappointing thing."

"It was a little frustrating and something the players will have to work on very quickly."

"We scored some great goals but I told the players at half-time that the name of the game is scoring goals and that there could be a shock result. They gave us a problem as they took us to extra time but it was a fantastic winning goal."

"The problem for me is that I sometimes forget how young some of the players are because they are inexperienced at this level."

"But they have to adapt quickly and change their mentality."

Scott Allan opened the scoring in the 49th minute, although Lee Novak then missed a penalty shortly afterwards and it looked like it would prove costly when Lewis Alessandra equalised on the hour.

Second goals on the night from both Allan and Alessandra sent the game to extra time.

But Birmingham progressed when Bartley hooked home in the second minute of extra time.

Pilgrims boss John Sheridan was disappointed with the defeat but encouraged by the performance, with Alessandra earning special praise.

He said: "I have not seen many better goals than the first one scored. When we were together at Oldham he showed glimpses of his ability. He was excellent against Birmingham."

Vale claim ref justice as Smith's men mix it up

Port Vale 1 Walsall 2

TWO games and two very different wins for Dean Smith's Walsall.

Four days after they made the game look easy against Tranmere, the Saddlers were made to fight every inch of the way to reach the Capital One Cup second round against a determined Port Vale.

This was a game where plenty of obstacles and questions were thrown in their path and, by and large, they dealt with them all. After taking the lead against the run of play through Ashley Hemmings, the Saddlers seemed to be at their strongest at the moment Chris Robertson conjured a leveller for the hosts just prior to the hour mark.

The last 30 minutes were pure cup football, with chances at either end, all the time watched by a home crowd increasingly vocal at the perceived injustices enacted on their team by referee Andy Haines.

Swinging

But with momentum swinging this way and that, it was Smith's side who found the moment of magic to emerge triumphant. For magic is the only word to describe James Baxendale's 84th-minute winner.

Baxendale's strike was set-up by Hemmings, who continued where he left off against Rovers with another impressive display.

His goal, perhaps the move of the match, showed once again the Saddlers have a passing game which can at times be mesmerising.

But perhaps most importantly, Smith's men showed they have the physicality to mix it with a big, bruising side like Vale, who were content to constantly test the visiting defence.

Gavin Tomlin had the ball in the net just past the half hour only to see it ruled out. But throughout the visitors stayed firm and grabbed the opener three minutes before the break as Hemmings picked up a rebound to get on the scoreboard.

In the second half Baxendale brought down Dan Jones and, when Chris Lines swept in the resulting free-kick, Robertson connected with a header which looped over Richard O'Donnell.

The winner, when it arrived, was not without controversy.

Vale were convinced Robertson was being held in the box but, as their screams for a penalty were ignored, Hemmings broke down the left, fed Baxendale infield and the pair exchanged passes before the latter skipped past one challenge and in his next movement shaped a perfectly-placed shot beyond Chris Neal.

Young martial artists show they can kick it

YOUNG martial artists from Cannock have struck gold at a kickboxing contest.

The fighters, from the Emil Herzberg Martial Arts Academy (EHMAA), took part in the friendly kickboxing fight show at Winspers Martial Arts Centre, Kidderminster.

They fought children from Kidderminster and the wider Worcester region and returned with five gold medals and one silver.

Instructor Emil Herzberg, who runs the academy at Pye Green community centre in Hednesford, said: "Our fighters were outstanding, showing off their slick skills, and winning the bouts by flurries of combinations and showing true spirit, and determination."

Congratulations went to the EMHAA fighters Oliver Partridge, Thomas Drew Payne, Kayleigh Goodwin, Jessica Goodwin, Chloe Bostock and Leo Manifold for their achievement.

EMHAA classes are held twice a week at the Greenheath Road venue. Call 07875074446 for more details.

Friendly is played to backdrop of lightning

Chasetown 0 Wolves XI 0
TO a backdrop of lightning, the Scholars and Wolves played out a draw which either side could easily have won, writes Paul Mullins.

Scholars' Lee Butler had the best early chance with a dipping drive that only just cleared Aaron McCarey's crossbar.

Neither goalkeeper was really tested until the closing minute of the first half when Ryan Price produced a top class save to deny Wolves' Jordan Cranston after he set up the chance himself with close control.

Chasetown substitute Andy Westwood was lively after the break and was a whisker wide from a tight angle.

Wolves hit the woodwork when Tesfa Robinson's attempted clearance off the line struck the post and bounced to safety. Then, Sam Whittall had a free header six yards out but could only loop it onto the roof of Price's net.

Paul Sullivan went closer to a winner with a free-kick that rattled the crossbar.

Chasetown: Price, Slater, Keenan, Beckett, Tesfa Robinson, Tessedale, Butler (Westwood), Bragoli, Wellescombe (Hay), Smith (Sullivan), Theo Robinson. Subs not used: Forde, Millington, Taylor, Watson.

Wolves: McCarey, Kostrna, Reckord, Whittall, Tank, Ihekwe, Baceisi, Jakobsson, Moli, Condi, Cranston. Subs: Kellerman, Flatt, Urquart, Keita, Matinyadze.

Fresh deal is signed by Griffiths

LEIGH GRIFFITHS has given Wolves a huge boost by signing a new two-year contract at Molineux.

The Scotland international striker has put pen to paper on an improved deal, with an option of a third.

And with Brierley Hill's Danny Bath also ready to sign a new contract, Wolves are sending out a positive message.

Head coach Kenny Jackett said: "Following on from a very successful loan spell in the Scottish Premier League with Hibernian, Leigh has come back and had an impressive pre-season."

"I am very pleased that he has signed a new contract committing his future to the club."

"We hope that he can now continue his good goalscoring form."

Captain's innings as gap at top extended

Penn CC 1st XI 164-9
Penkridge CC 1st XI 165-9
Penkridge won by 1 wicket
PENKRIDGE first team snatched victory from the jaws of defeat as they narrowly beat Penn by a single wicket.

After winning the toss, Penkridge elected to field and made great progress as overseas star Mohammed Murad ripped through the Penn top order on his way to taking 6-39.

At 91-7 Penn were in all sorts of trouble but to their credit their lower order rallied as they were finally dismissed for 164.

In reply, Penkridge made a poor start and lost wickets at regular intervals.

At 113-8 and then 141-9 the game looked over but a composed innings from captain Paul Szweczyk (39 no) and a quickfire 12no from Mohammed Murad saw Penkridge home as they extended their lead at the top of the table to 24 points.

Penkridge 2nd XI 234-5
Penn 2nd XI 164-7

Penkridge winning draw
A young Penkridge 2nd XI travelled to Penn and produced a fantastic result as they gained a winning draw which moved them to only eight points behind their promotion rivals Penn.

After again losing the toss Penkridge were inserted into bat and made steady progress throughout their innings with Rich James (52) and KK Sadiq (62) the pick of the batsmen as they compiled a respectable 234-5 off their 50 overs.

Penn's reply started poorly and they were soon in trouble as Gary Pope (3-43) and Shirjeel Mir (3-38) tore through their top order.

However, with the game reduced by rain, a steady seventh wicket partnership saved the game for Penn as they finished on 164-7 as Penkridge claimed the winning draw.

Penkridge CC 3rd XI 211
Highcroft & Great Barr 1st XI 179-9

Penkridge winning draw
Penkridge thirds lost the toss and were put into bat and made a reasonable total of 211 with Mo Shafiq (73) the pick of the batsmen.

In reply, Highcroft never looked like chasing down the total and only a frustrating last wicket partnership prevented Penkridge taking maximum points as Highcroft finished on 179-9.

The pick of the Penk bowlers was Faisal Nadeem who took 5-39.

We need to sign players, admits Jackett

Disappointed, Wolves' Lee Evans

KENNY JACKETT has admitted Wolves need to sign players after their first-round exit from the Capital One Cup – as Tongo Doumbia became the latest to leave.

Wolves fielded one of their youngest teams for many years in Tuesday night's 1-0 first-round defeat away to League Two Morecambe, with the average age 21 years, 332 days.

Doumbia became the 12th departure since the end of last season when he joined French club Valenciennes on a season-long loan with a view to a permanent move. The midfielder, who turned 24 on Tuesday, joined Christophe Berra, Stephen Hunt, Sylvan Ebanks-Blake, Sam Winnall, Johnny Gorman, Jody Craddock, Marian Kello, Adam Hammill, Dorus De Vries, Eggert Jonsson and Karl Henry, while a further three loans have returned to their parent clubs.

Wolves

Head coach Jackett handed a debut to centre-back Ethan Ebanks-Landell with six enforced changes from Saturday's opening 0-0 draw at Preston. But, while keen to see the young guns form the bedrock of his new-look team, he concedes Wolves need reinforcements.

"It felt the way of the younger players but we need our experienced players back and to add players to put a side together for this division very quickly," said Jackett.

"We need to improve internally and externally with regard to the squad."

"We need to work with what we've got and to improve the squad and the team. It's a big job here and from Saturday we lost six players from illness and injury so it disrupted the team.

"They were all enforced. The three guys came off during Saturday's game (Richard Stearman, Dave Edwards and George Elokobi).

"And then Bakary Sako had a groin injury on Monday and Sam Ricketts and Bjorn Sigurdarson were both ill."

But that gave opportunities for young players and they're pushing for a start which is a big thing."

Cup setback still offers hope of brighter future

Morecambe 1 Wolves 0
TWO games, no goals but some hope. On a day when Wolves lost one of their greats, one of their youngest teams for many years gave a glimpse of a brighter future, despite defeat.

Like so many of their predecessors since Dave Wagstaffe graced Wembley in the 1974 final, they came unstuck in the League Cup against lower-league opposition. Morecambe repeated their win over Wolves in the same competition six years ago, only this time it wasn't at Molineux and they didn't need extra-time.

Robbed of six players who started Saturday's 0-0 draw at Preston, Wolves took the field with a side which only a few months ago would have been an Under-21 team.

With the exception of keeper Carl Ikeme, 27, and 28-year-old 'veteran' Kevin Foley, every player in the starting line-up was under the age of 22.

Pulsating

It was a side crying out for experience and some knowhow. Defensively, they looked solid again, despite the loss of their two most experienced players in the back line, the injured Richard Stearman and Sam Ricketts, who was ill.

Ryan Williams's superbly-struck free-kick six minutes from time proved to be the difference in a pulsating tie as Matt Doherty hit the post in the first half and Leigh Griffiths and Zeli Ismail were denied by post and bar soon after the restart.

Griffiths was the biggest guilty party – he and Wolves will know the result would surely have been different had his header gone in instead of hitting the post from point-blank range six minutes after the break.

In a similar pattern to Saturday, Wolves fared better in the first half before fading after the restart, although their two best chances came early in the second period.

But there was danger after just 30 seconds as Morecambe player-coach Stewart Drummond tested Ikeme from 25 yards.

Kevin Doyle, who came on for Jake Cassidy in the 57th minute injected some much-needed experience and class with his hold-up play and reliable use of the ball.

But there was again a lack of cutting edge which was ultimately punished.

Jack Sampson headed straight at Ikeme from Tony Diagne's centre eight minutes from time.

Then came the vital goal, after Doherty tripped Fleming to earn a booking. Up stepped Williams to curl a beauty into the top corner, giving Ikeme no chance.

Belting martial arts success of many colours

MARTIAL arts students in Cannock added a little colour to their lives after being awarded new belts in a grading exercise.

The youngsters from Black Star Aikido Organisation (BSAO), Cheslyn Hay demonstrated their skills using empty hands and replica weapons in the form of wooden staffs and swords.

Parents and friends watched as the students were put through their paces as the students gathered at BSAO headquarters at the village's hall to undergo grading tests after qualifying with the necessary practice hours and course requirements.

The Grading Panel was overseen by Aikido Master Tony Brown, 6th Dan, who runs the organisation.

He said: "The standard was very high and after discussions with the other instructors it was agreed, a belting success. The students were only too pleased to rip off their old belts and put their new coloured belts on."

The club always welcomes new students who wish to learn all aspects of Aikido from its traditional roots to modern day applications, including conflict management and lawful responses.

40 point margin as side racks up victory

Cannock 3rd XI 182-9
Four Oaks Saints 1st XI 120
Cannock win by 62 runs

LEAGUE leaders Cannock recorded win No.10 to move 40 points clear at the top of the table with their two closest rivals both only managing draws.

After again losing the toss Cannock were asked to bat first and on a wicket still damp from the previous evening's heavy rain made steady progress thanks to a half-century stand between Craig Squire (21) and Alex Beaman (59).

Tom Bull chipped in with 43 and the innings closed on 182-9. Despite losing a wicket in the first over, Four Oaks started well and were well positioned at 70-2 but the fall of opener Tanveer for 37 saw them collapse to 120 to give Cannock victory. All Cannock's bowlers took wickets with Elliott Horton (4-12) the pick of them.

Cannock 2nd XI 148-9
Milford 2nd XI 118-9

Winning draw Cannock

Cannock got the winning draw over local rivals Milford. After losing the toss and being asked to bat first, Cannock found runs hard to come by but Adam Bento (38) and Matt Davenport (30) helped the score to a defendable 148-9.

Milford's reply started steadily but with the regular fall of wickets made scoring even harder and the innings closed on 118-9 with Matt Robison taking 5-28 and Dan Wood 2-32. For Milford Luke Ponder top scored with 41.

Cash must not be all, says boss

PLAYERS' leader Gordon Taylor says football is in danger of losing its soul.

The Professional Footballers Association chief executive wants modern football to show money is not its sole driving force.

Following a summer of international disappointment – England's three teams at international tournaments all flopped – Taylor raised concerns football may have its priorities wrong.

"I think the game is in danger of losing its soul. I think about youngsters playing football, having the facilities, aspiring to be like heroes and we're not working hard enough on that."

Burrows in solid 57-run opening

Milford Hall 1st XI 175-9
Cannock 1st XI 122-8
Milford winning draw

IN this topsy-turvy game it was the home team who finished with the majority of the points.

Milford opener Burrows (36) and Hollinshead (16) gave them a solid 57-run start for the first wicket.

Cannock's bowlers and fielders then restricted them to 132-6 after 45 overs when a heavy rainstorm held up play for an hour.

Bowling by Tegan Naidoo (2-33 off 17 overs) and Andy Hawkins (3-43 off 17 overs) giving the visitors hope of victory. However, at the resumption of play, sensible batting by Bulpitt (18no) and Corbett (21) enabled Milford to score 175-9.

The rain break had reduced the Cannock total of overs to 43 making victory a difficult possibility but a chance of a winning draw.

Ed Kilbee (14) and Mike Stevenson (27) scored 22 off the first three overs but the visitors then struggled against the excellent bowling of ex-Cannock star Guy Bulpitt (5-13 off 13 overs) to reduce Cannock to 82-8 off 25 overs and facing certain defeat.

However Cannock's opening bowlers, Ed Fleet (27 no) and Jack Twigger (5 no) heroically battled out the remaining 18 overs for a stand of 40 runs which raised Cannock's spirits.

Tributes to Wagstaffe

WOLVES head coach Kenny Jackett led the tributes to Molineux legend Dave Wagstaffe as he reflected on a "sad time" for the club.

"Waggy" died on Tuesday at the age of 70 after a short illness, just hours before Wolves took the field in their Capital One Cup first round defeat at Morecambe.

Wolves players wore black armbands as a mark of respect before being knocked out of the cup. Wagstaffe won as a player in 1974.

Jackett said: "It's a sad time for Wolves - Dave Wagstaffe was one of our former players and he was a fantastic player for this club. "He should get all the plaudits and respect that he deserves for his outstanding career."

Wolves are planning a full tribute to Waggy, regarded as one of the club's greatest wingers, at Saturday's home game against Gillingham.

Honours even as both sides strive for winner

Heath Hayes 2 Loughborough Uni 2

HAYES got their Midland Alliance season under way with an entertaining draw against the side that finished third last season.

Both sides could have snatched victory with the result in doubt right up to the last kick of the game. However, a draw was the right result as neither set of players deserved to be on the losing side after giving their all.

The students had the better of the early play with their methodical build up and speedy wing play.

Hayes had keeper Adam Jenkins to thank for a series of top-drawer saves with one save to deny Sam Cook being of outstanding quality.

However it was the home side who drew first blood on 33 minutes. Debutant Matty Allport picked up the ball 30 yards from goal and he unleashed a powerful shot which flew into the top corner past the startled keeper.

This lifted the home side who took control of the game and it was then the turn of the students keeper Brendan Hazlett to show his mettle with two stunning saves to deny Dan Lomas and Tom Green. Deep into first half injury time James Winchester equalised following a patient build up and clinical through ball.

On the hour the home side again took the lead when Josh Mattussack handled Liam Degville's goalbound shot and Lomas despatched the resulting penalty.

Alex Roope replaced Tom Green, who had worked tirelessly throughout, and immediately made his presence felt creating a chance for Lomas who fired agonisingly over.

With 10 minutes left, the visitors were level again with another superbly crafted goal with Tristan Dunkley getting the finishing touch.

Both sides went all out for the winner and Hayes went close with Mitch Teece firing narrowly over following and swift counter-attack and sub Adam Langley rattled the woodwork. At the other end George Nash somehow screwed the ball wide of a gaping goal with the last kick of the game.

● In last week's match report of Heath Hayes v Rushall Olympic it was stated Tom Baggott was responsible for a tackle which injured another player. This was incorrect and Baggott was not involved in the incident in any way.

The taste of reality for squad

Highgate United 4
Heath Hayes 0

THE young and relatively inexperienced Hayes side where introduced to the realities of the tougher side of Midland Alliance football.

They were up against a vastly experienced Highgate side. Hayes started well and looked to be in with a shout but never seriously tested former Hedgesford keeper Sam Hornby.

The home side began to take control and Adam Jenkins had to be at his best to keep his side in the game. They finally cracked in the 38th minute when Karl King scored.

Hayes made a couple of tactical changes at the break bringing on Adam Langley for Tom Green and Dan Jones for the injured Mitch Teece. Hayes then began to show a bit more of a threat and carried the fight to the home side but then conceded three quick goals through basic errors.

Harry Philips gave the ball away cheaply and it was played back into the box for Lei Brown to fire home. Two pieces of naive defending allowed Brown to complete a hat-trick. Steve Taylor will be looking for a more solid performance when they visit Coleshill on Saturday.

Juniors looking for new players

HEATH Hayes Under-10s and 11s are looking for experienced players for the 2013/14 campaign.

The teams, led by experienced coaches, play in the Lichfield & District Recreational League. Players must be going into school Years 5 and 6. Call Kerry, Under-10s on 07824 698841 or for the Under-11s, Andy on 07775 029205.

CONFIDENCE RISES WITH PITMEN WIN

Hednesford Town 4 Eastwood Town 0

HEDNESFORD Town's third pre-season friendly of their campaign, once again played in balmy Summer conditions, saw The Pitmen comfortably sweep aside lower league opponents, Eastwood Town.

The Pitmen

The victory will give their supporters further cause for optimism as the spine of their playoff winning side showed real class.

The Keys Park outfit's first half performance was a joy to behold as the direct running and one-touch skill of Jamey Osborne, Elliott Durrell and Kris Taylor supplied ample ammunition to the lively front two of Neil Harvey and Aaron Rey.

In truth, Eastwood really struggled to contain the five pronged attack.

Stunning

It was the Pitmen's Osborne who opened the scoring with a stunning long-range shot on 17 minutes.

The three minutes later Dave MacPherson powered in a headed rebound after Ben Bailey had hit the bar from a well placed Durrell corner that was swung across the box.

Taylor tested Alex Malony from distance with a fizzing low shot as The Pitmen waltzed through an overrun Eastwood midfield before Kieran Wells headed over when well-placed for the visitors best opportunity on 39 minutes. Nathan Woolfe curled in a sumptuous third goal with 15 minutes to go.

Then The Pitmen's comprehensive win was rounded off by youngster David Ojapah as he coolly lobbed Maltby after a poor defensive header sent him clean through.

The Pitmen continue their pre-season preparations this Saturday when they welcome Redditch United to Keys Park as confidence continues to flow through the Hednesford ranks.

Hednesford Town: Crane, Disney (Campion 45), Melbourne, Bailey (Francis 45), Barnes, MacPherson (C) (20), Osborne (17) (Thompson-Brown 59), Durrell (Woolfe 75) 62, Harvey (Ntarmak 45), Rey (Ojapah 80) 76, Taylor (Diallo 75).

Subs Not Used: Lennon, Plumpton,

Eastwood Town: Malony, Raven, Riley, Hurren (C), Newton, Slater, Bowen, Robinson, Wells, Whitman, Munn,

Subs: Whyman, Garner, Lench, Gowing, Roberts, Burton, Shaw

Scholars are just edged out by neighbours

Gary Hay goes in for the challenge against Rushall

Grant Beckett closes in on Ramone Stephens

Chasetown 0 Rushall Olympic 1
ALATE headed goal from Zak Martin gave Rushall Olympic a narrow victory against their neighbours Chasetown in their latest pre-season friendly, writes Terry Brumpton.

It continued Pies' impressive winning run against their local rivals and puts them in good heart for their final pre-season game on Saturday at home to Skril North side Worcester City.

The home side, however, put up a good show against their higher-ranked neighbours and shaded the first half with Paul Sullivan and Andy Westwood showing up well.

Sullivan, in particular, was unfortunate not to score as he was denied on at least three occasions by visiting goalkeeper Lewis Solly.

Rushall's line-up did not include 38-year-old former Blues striker Dele Adebola, who has been training with the club.

Last season's leading scorer Dave Walker, however, was in the thick of the action. Martin did well to set him up but his effort was blocked, then Walker saw another opportunity come to nothing.

In the second half Rushall began to enjoy more of the play and possession and almost went ahead from an unlikely source when Jimmy Turner struck a fierce left-foot shot inches wide and Walker forced a good save from Danny Watson in the home goal.

Chasetown should have gone in front when they caught their opponents on the break but Sullivan saw his effort fly inches past.

Rushall replied with a shot from Martin that not only beat the keeper but the far post as well.

Pies' new contract signing Stan Mugisha lobbed inches over the bar, before the only goal of the game came with just a few minutes remaining when Jonny Haynes' corner was powerfully headed home by Martin.
